New road tax for Chouteau

Chouteau Township electors Tuesday night approved by a narrow margin a 16.5 cent special road tax which had been defeated the previous three consecutive years.

The proposal passed with 58 voting in favor, 45 against and three ballots spoiled. A total of 106 electors voted. The new tax will remain in effect for five years and gives the town board of auditors the authority to approve budgets for Highway Commissioner Jim Estes which could be as high as $45,000 above the budgets of previous years.

The 16.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation will be applied to the township's new assessed valuation of $26,738,845, plus the assessments on railroads and capital stocks.

Walter T. "Dick" Sparks, township supervisor, explained that the town board now has the authority to approve a highway department budget of 16.5 cents and the vote Tuesday night gives the board permission to approve expenditures "up to" an additional 16.5 cents per $100.

If the board approves a budget requiring less than the added $45,000, taxpayers will be assessed less than the 16.5 cents, Sparks noted.

He emphasized that the tax levied is determined by the Madison County Clerk's office, not by the town board. The Madison County Board must

The entire community is invited to the ecumenical Good Friday service.

Values down $9 million

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

A decrease of $9.3 million in local property valuations in Granite City Township and an overall decline of $9,048,505 in the combined assessments of the four Quad-City area townships—from $295 million to $286 million—were announced this week by County Clerk Eulalia Hotz.

The lower assessments are virtually certain to result in a tax rate increase for the city of Granite City because as a "home rule" municipality its rate extensions are unlimited, but other taxing agencies throughout the area will be hard hit financially where their rate extensions are pegged by statutory limits.

Nameki Township was the only township in which local assessments were increased in this area, but the amount of the rise in newly certified valuations was far less than that established by local assessors and sent to the Madison County Board of Review. Granite City's 1973 valuation on which tax bills will be based this summer was set at $163,679,670, a drop of $5,357,365 below the 1972 assessment of $169,036,975.

The new Venice township valuation of $53,880,300 is a decrease of $2,734,920 below the 1972 valuation of $56,614,320, and a new assessment of $26,738,845 in Chouteau Township is a reduction of $1,671,985 below the previous valuation of $28,410,830.

In Nameki Township, the new valuation of $42,464,955, up $714,805 from the 1972 assessment of $41,750,150.

In all instances, the new assessments as fixed by the review board were reduced substantially below values that had been certified earlier by local township assessors. For the most part, Miss Hotz said, the reductions by the Board of Review were due to homestead

Ban Madison mobile homes

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Mobile homes no longer will be permitted in the city of Madison except in mobile home parks, according to a new zoning ordinance passed by the City Council Tuesday night.

A new housing code also was adopted. The zoning ordinance affects any new structures, while the housing code regulates existing structures.

Mobile homes and residences already occupied are not affected, but the ordinance and code will apply to any new residents or businesses moving into existing structures or building new ones.

No mobile home parks are presently in the city. However, the ordinance allows for the creation of a park should a private developer be interested. Under the ordinance, a mobile home park must be located on a tract of land not less than 5 acres, at least 125 feet deep and 400 feet wide.

Should a park be established the mobile homes would have to comply with regulatory specifications.

The ordinance was prepared by the Zoning Commission of the City of Madison, with assistance of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

John Bellcoff, chairman of the zoning commission, explained the purpose of the ordinance and housing code is to promote and protect the public health, safety, morals, comfort and general welfare of the

School voting Saturday

A hotly contested bid by nine candidates for three seats on the seven-man Board of Education in Granite City School District 9 and a five-way race for three school board posts in Venice District 3 will highlight school elections in the Quad-City area Saturday.

Madison School District 12 which has only two school board posts open to election this year has no opposition and the board seats will go by default to the only two candidates on the ballot.

Polling places — 16 in Granite City, four in Madison and two in Venice — will open at noon and close at 7 p.m. Results of the voting will be returned to the respective school administration offices of the three Quad-City districts.

An apparent split in the alignments of three incumbent members of the Granite City School Board in their campaigns for re-election marked election activities this week. Three terms expire on the Granite City board this year — those of George E. Moore Sr., Donald W. Stucke and Harold W. Davis.

Moore and Stucke are reported to have joined with C. Mike Michaeloff in a bid for the three board seats, while Davis has joined with Dr. Felicia Koch, considered a forerunner among the candidates, in a bid for two of the seats.

Other candidates seeking Granite City board posts are Miss Almada Lahr, Thomas

PROPOSED POLLUTION CONTROL SYSTEM. The drawing shows Granite City Steel's plan to further control emissions from coke pushing operations. Hood (1) mounted on mobile coke "guide" apparatus and inside-mounted water sprays contain and suppress emissions as fresh coke spills from ovens. Exhaust fan (3) vacuum steam-arrested emissions from hood, pulling them through gas cleaning system (2). Controls would supplement water sprays already operating on coke quench car (4), providing emission control during pushing and while coke is in transit to quench tower. GC Steel says its design is better than an Illinois EPA-endorsed "coke side shed," emphasizing that its mobile system would control emissions as well or better, consume one-sixteenth the energy, take 100 per cent less time to install, cost 12 times less money and create no new water pollution, solid waste or worker safety hazards.

Richard "Dickie" Curtis, 19, of 31 Parktowne West, and John Adams, 19, of 621 Margaret Place, Mitchell, were injured at 2:25 p.m. Monday when their auto went out of control on the railroad tracks at the 22nd Street crossing, continued west and crashed into a utility pole 72 feet from the railroad tracks.

An eyewitness to the crash said the car which Curtis was driving "just fell apart on impact. The driver's door flew open and the driver just fell out."

Adams, the passenger, was pinned in the wreckage and rescue workers required about 20 minutes to free him. The car struck the pole sideways at the auto's firewall and the front end, including the motor and transmission, moved several feet forward from the body as the car broke in half. Adams was in the front passenger seat and became trapped when the firewall buckled upon impact, catching his left ankle and foot. He also suffered cuts to his head, concussion, a broken pelvis and multiple abrasions to his arms, legs and face.

Granite City Fire Department rescue workers used a portable circular saw, an air-powered chisel and hydraulic jacks to pry the firewall and other bent

Mrs. Monroe on State Education Board

Gov. Dan Walker on Tuesday selected a panel of 17 persons, recommended by a special search and nominating committee to serve on the newly-created State Board of Education. Included is Mrs. Gertrude Monroe of Collinsville.

The 17 were appointed from among those recommended by a committee headed by Robert E. Brooker, chairman of the executive committee of Marcor, Inc. Walker is a former Marcor officer.

The governor said, "We have a board that is removed from politics, as intended by the legislature and the 1970 Constitutional Convention which mandated the creation of a state school board."

The appointees include eight business executives, three labor union representatives, two farmers, seven former teachers, a former college administrator, an attorney, two housewives, three holders of a doctor of philosophy degree, three persons with master degrees and six members with experience on school boards. Six appointees are women.

Solicitation had resulted in the submission of more than 450 names. About 150 were interviewed in person during the search.

The board was established by the General Assembly last year to implement a provision of the 1970 Constitution calling for a policy-making state education board.

Beginning next January, the board will assume jurisdiction over state education matters concerning public and private schools from kindergarten through high school and vocational schools.

The board will not supersede local boards of education. It will have approximately the same relationship to local boards as does the present Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The board's first statutory task will be to select the next chief education official for the state. Under the constitution, the elected office of the superintendent of public instruction will be abolished in January 1975, when the present term of the elected superintendent expires.

Gov. Walker said, "We have a good board, a board we can all be proud of. It is balanced philosophically and geographically, and it represents a sound approach to education, and education financing."

"It is a group that will pioneer new grounds in education."

The law required the governor to choose four from Chicago, four from suburban Cook County, two each from judicial districts 2 through 5 and one member-at-large.

Members are unsalaried but are reimbursed for expenses, plus $50 per diem for meeting days. The members of the first board will draw lots to determine the length of their terms.

Two from the first judicial district and one each from the other four districts will serve six-year terms; three from the first district, two from the other districts and the at-large member appointee will serve four-year terms; and three from the first district and two from the other districts will serve two-year terms.

The law establishing the board stipulates that no one affiliated with existing schools, public or private, can serve on the state board.

Each candidate whose appointment might violate the restriction was asked whether he or she would agree to resign from such a position if appointed; each appointee so agreed.

It was noted, however, that the prohibition against membership for teachers and other education officials is under challenge in court litigation.

Members are:
First Judicial District, Chicago—

Miss Adrienne Bailey, Ph. D., 28, a program associate at Chicago Community Trust, a health, education and charity foundation.

Mrs. Mercedes C. de Freitas Goodwin, D. Ed., 51, principal of Walker Elementary School, Bedford Park, and director of special education for Argo Summit District 104; she plans to retire in May.

Mrs. Betty Howard, 43, co-owner of Howard Associates, an advertising and public relations firm.

Domingo Tobias, 27, a senior associate at the Center for New Schools, a consulting firm that provides technical assistance to community groups, schools and board on bilingual education and cultural awareness.

First Judicial District, outside Chicago—
Mrs. Carol N. Johnston, 45, DesPlaines, a homemaker and former secretary for the Iowa State CIO Council.

Lawrence A. Keller, 55, Evergreen Park, director of education and community services for United Steelworkers District 31.

Frederick Palmer, 35, Markham, an installation and maintenance man for Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and member of the Markham school board.

Donald E. Truitt, 44, Palatine, vice-president of Arthur Ruhloff & Co. and consultant on property development, office building and leasing.

Second District—
Edward J. Copeland, 40, Highland Park, an attorney and former state representative.

Mrs. Justine Simon Walhout, Ph. D., 43, Rockford, a former chemistry professor and department chairman at Rockford College.

Third District—
Sam Guzzardo, 57, Macomb, a former teacher now doing legislative liaison work on education for the AFL-CIO in Springfield.

Robert A. Jamieson, 65, Peoria, president of the Security Savings and Loan.

Fourth District—
Henry I. Green, 45, Champaign, a partner in the Akeman-Green Real Estate firm.

Donald F. Muirhead, 61, Decatur, a farmer who served on the Macon County Board for 16 years.

At-large member—
Jack Witkowski, 59, Chicago,

a real estate developer and appraiser who counsels on land use and marketability.

Fifth Judicial District—
Charles M. Long, 42, Waggoner, president of the First National Bank of Litchfield and owner-operator of a grain farm.

And Mrs. Gertrude R. Monroe, 53, a former high school English and foreign language teacher.

She served on the Collinsville School Board from 1970 until last year.

Mrs. Monroe is currently a director of the Collinsville Herald newspaper. She is the widow of the late Circuit Judge James O. Monroe Jr. and has two grown children.

She is a member of the League of Women Voters and of the Collinsville Area Hospital Auxiliary.

An Army Signal Corps civilian translator in World War II, she later taught at Neponset, Downers Grove, Urbana, Collinsville and Edwardsville. She was an active member of the Collinsville Federation of Teachers.

Mrs. Monroe holds a bachelor degree from the University of Illinois. She has been active in the Parent-Teacher Association and was a Girl Scout leader for ten years.

Road tax

approve all tax levies in September, he said.

Estes thanked those present for voting on the proposition and approving the increased tax rates, saying "We really needed it."

Sparks presented his supervisor's annual report on the status of township funds and said township residents may expect reductions next year in the town fund and general assistance fund levies.

He said a reimbursement received during the past fiscal year of more than $13,000 for sewers repaired during April 1973 and June 1973 flooding was responsible, in part, for large balances in those two funds.

In the town fund, Sparks reported, the fiscal year started with a balance of $6,159. Taxes of $51,648 and other receipts of $35,651 were added during the year while expenditures total $65,368, leaving a balance of $25,491.

"If we do not need that big a balance, we will not levy quite as much tax next year and your bill will not be so high," the supervisor told those present.

The general assistance fund started the fiscal year with a balance of $19,090. Added during the year were taxes of $24,248 and other receipts of $18,804 while expenditures totaled $14,097 for general assistance purposes, $5,132 for administration, purchase of an $8,000 savings certificate and transfer of $10,000 from general assistance to the road and bridge fund, leaving a balance of $25,812.

Sparks explained, "The high balance may mean less taxes next year. We try to keep it down to what we feel is a fair balance." He added a high balance, however, is almost necessary in the general assistance fund in case there is a serious accident in the township and those involved are unable to pay their own hospitalization. "If we did not have the money available then, we would have no choice but to borrow it," he added.

The road and bridge equipment fund began with a balance of $2,561 to which were added taxes of $4,160 for a total of $6,721. Expended for purchases of machinery was $2,985, and $1,409 was used for machinery repairs, leaving a balance of $2,337, Sparks reported.

From the permanent road fund, which has not received taxes for three years, the balance at the beginning of the fiscal year was $945 while expenditures for labor totaled $735, leaving a balance of $110.

In the general road and bridge fund, a balance of $4,481 was reported at the start of the fiscal year. Taxes total $30,750 and receipts for material and services added, including the sewer repair reimbursements, totaled $28,500. Another $15,000 was borrowed for the fund, $10,000 was transferred into the fund and $366 was received from other sources, including race track permits for a total of $89,056.

Expenditures for administration in the general road and bridge fund totaled $6,537, for maintenance of roads $37,300, for oiling of roads $5,242, for repairs to machinery $3,461, for contingencies $120 and for payment of anticipation

Animal adoption clinic to offer 'Pet of Month'

The Quad-City Association for Protection of Animals (APA) will offer its first "Pet of the Month" for adoption at a special pre-Easter adoption clinic, scheduled from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday near the front entrance to the Granite City Shopping Center.

Featured animal at the clinic will be the April "pet"—a full blooded Dalmatian. The 3-year-old female called Fokey is a standard size Dalmatian, weighing about 40 pounds.

The dog, however, is totally deaf, although her eyesight and sense of smell are very keen, APA officers said.

"She is a lovely animal, very good with kids and is trained not to jump from a pen area," the officer said.

Mrs. Connie Becerra, adoption center chairman, said among the animals to be offered Saturday are puppies, kittens and several older dogs and cats. A Siamese cat also will be available.

All the animals have had protective immunization shots, Mrs. Becerra said.

A nominal adoption fee is asked from prospective owners to help finance the animal care and public education program.

Dave Clayton, APA president, said a specific animal will be featured each month in the Press-Record and offered for adoption at the APA clinic.

Meat fund began with a balance of $2,561 to which were added taxes of $4,160 for a total of $6,721. Expended for purchases of machinery was $2,985, and $1,409 was used for machinery repairs, leaving a balance of $2,337, Sparks reported.

From the permanent road fund, which has not received taxes for three years, the balance at the beginning of the fiscal year was $945 while expenditures for labor totaled $735, leaving a balance of $110.

In the general road and bridge fund, a balance of $4,481 was reported at the start of the fiscal year. Taxes total $30,750 and receipts for material and services added, including the sewer repair reimbursements, totaled $28,500. Another $15,000 was borrowed for the fund, $10,000 was transferred into the fund and $366 was received from other sources, including race track permits for a total of $89,056.

Expenditures for administration in the general road and bridge fund totaled $6,537, for maintenance of roads $37,300, for oiling of roads $5,242, for repairs to machinery $3,461, for contingencies $120 and for payment of anticipation warrants $10,304, leaving a fund balance of $6,113.

The Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund began with a $3,853 balance and added were $5,394 in general expenditures, totaling $4,873, leaving a fund balance at the end of the fiscal year of $4,374.

He reported the revenue sharing fund started with a balance of $27,172 to which was added $45,781 in federal revenue and $1,755 interest earned on certificates of deposit.

Expended for land and planning for the building was $18,606 and $1,465 was spent for administration of the fund, leaving a balance of $52,645.

The electors unanimously approved the reports.

Sparks introduced Ed Juneau, consultant with the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwab engineering firm, and said Juneau would be able to answer any questions from the audience concerning progress of the proposed Four Township Sewer program.

Sparks said, "I'm sorry to say we can not tell you when we will get sewers, but we are working on them. Our plans are nearly completed except for lift station designs."

"In the near future we will get group together to get easements for the sewer. We need people who can talk to their neighbors for easements, explaining the cheaper we get the easements, the lower their sewer bills will be," Sparks said.

Also discussed at the town meeting Tuesday night was the proposal to construct a new township highway garage.

Sparks explained the township hopes to receive a total of $105,000 from revenue sharing, of which about $50,000 has been spent or will be spent on the highway building.

"The bids are out for a new highway building. Almost seven acres of ground have been purchased. When it is completed, we hope to get started with a township building of some sort," Sparks said.

"We will call a meeting of the people to find out what they

Nameoki electors reject town hall expansion plan

Nameoki Township residents at the annual town meeting Tuesday night voted 19 to 5 against the township expanding the existing town hall at 4250 Highway 162.

The vote of the town electors on the issue was held as an advisory vote only. The town board of auditors still retains the authority to either approve the expansion or to quash the project which already has passed the planning, design and bidding stages and is ready for contracts to be let.

Town residents voiced concern additional taxes may be necessary to finance the expansion. Bids range from $58,000 to $89,000 and the township had anticipated the cost of the program at only $30,000, Douglas Teator, town clerk, informed those present.

Teator said a bad roof on the existing building plus increased heating and air conditioning costs which were not anticipated by the township estimate was made, increased the cost of the project.

He said the township appropriated $10,000 from revenue sharing last year for the building, anticipating the money would cover about one-third of the cost. He said and rent was expected from the Madison County Circuit Court for use of a part of the new section of the building.

"The latest word is that the Circuit Court will pay only part of the utilities and the custodial cost. Possibly general assistance could contribute something," Teator said, admitting he did not know from where the remaining money would come.

"I am guessing that a sum of that size would have to be financed over a 20-year period and I would guess payments would be about $400 per month. The highway department now pays $100 per month and that could be used for the new building," he added.

Asked if a tax could be possible, Teator commented, "It is always possible. If you have to levy a tax to pay for it."

William Nichols, a representative of landowners in the Horseshoe Lake area, said the Bend Road Baptist Church has been purchased by the state and is to be demolished for the state park. He said the state want and then get started," he added. He said about $55,000 in revenue sharing should be available for a township building and added surplus in other funds can be transferred to cover building expenses, if necessary.

"If the revenue sharing is not sufficient for the people, we are in the township have been pretty thrifty... so we could get the job done without being in debt," the supervisor told those present.

may be willing to relinquish ownership of the building for a token $1.

He suggested the board of auditors investigate the costs of moving the church building to the town hall location for additional space. The electors agreed the board should investigate that possibility as an alternate to building the town hall addition.

Teator said some of the $10,000 in revenue sharing has been used for architect's plans for the expansion, but that enough should still be available to move the church building, if the building can be moved.

Michael Ropar served as moderator of the meeting. The electors also approved the annual report of Supervisor Louis Whitsell.

With Whitsell seeking reelection to the Madison County Board in the November general election, he is trying to find some way to show his constituents that he still is trying to act in their interests where the soybean plant is concerned.

This public resentment of the plant may lead to a head-on confrontation as ADM seeks a right-of-way through a portion of the township for its waste line before the plant can begin operation. The start of operations has been anticipated for this spring.

ADM has bank millions of dollars into its plant and into increasing the capacity of Granite City sanitary sewers along the Madison County area and then into the existing Granite City sewers in the Glenview area.

Sewage would flow south in the city's sewers, eventually reaching the Granite City sewage treatment facilities. Some stirrings also have been heard from Granite City that opposition to the plan may be forthcoming.

Whitsell indicated this week he may try to apply political authority to recoup his image where the soybean plant is concerned.

Whitsell said of the proposed sewer line south from the plant "wouldn't allow it unless we could get service out of it." Some land owners in the proposed path already have indicated they will not give ADM rights-of-way through their lands unless ADM agrees to allow them to link into the sanitary line. Now the township board seems to have taken that ball and expanded the implications.

Whitsell also said the township will not allow ADM to install the line unless the specifications "fit with our Four Township Sewer program."

Nameoki, Chouteau, Venice

Members of the Board who were terms do not expire this year are Monroe Worthen, A.L. Metcalf, Norman Hall and Carl Macios.

In Venice two of the three incumbents whose terms expire are seeking reelection — Elmer A. Taylor and Jack Tolliver — while the third, Leo Dooler, now board president, did not seek reelection.

Taylor and Tolliver are supporting William J. "Bill" Peche as the member of their ward seeking the three Venice school board seats.

Also seeking board election as independent candidates are William Gathright and Mrs. Lucille M. Kologerou.

Members of the Venice board whose terms do not expire this year are Willie Johnson, Fred Rumpf, Richard Bailey and Leslie.

Two board seats are subject to election in Madison district balloting, those of Frank Derner and Elvers Johnson, but Derner is not a candidate for reelection.

Johnson and Frank Eaves are the only two candidates on the ballot and, without opposition, will be elected by default.

Other members of the Madison School Board are James Childers, Willie Walker, Chester McMannaway, Harold Pisk and Donald Boyer.

Polling places in the Granite City school district election will be located at:

Pct. 1, McKinley School, 22nd and Iowa; Pct. 2, Lake School, 2301 E. 23rd; Pct. 3, Washington School, 2500 W. 20th; Pct. 4, Loyd School, 2400 W. 20th; Pct. 5, Emerson School, 20th and Benton; Pct. 6, Webster School, 26th and Kate.

Pct. 7, Marshall School, Marshall and Victory; Pct. 8, Niedringhaus School, 29th and State; Pct. 9, Fordard School, 2940 Johnson Road; Pct. 10, Maryville School, 4651 Maryville; Pct. 11, Wilson School, 2400 Wilson; Pct. 12, Nameoki School, 1620 Pontoon; Pct. 13, Parkview School, 3200 Maryville; Pct. 14, Mitchell School, 315 Chain of Rocks; Pct. 15, Stallings School, 4401 Highway 162, and Pct. 16, Johnson School, 4225 Old Alton Road.

Basically, the boundaries of the voting precincts in the Granite City district are the same as those of the elementary school districts. The school administration office will maintain telephone service during the election Saturday to answer inquiries concerning the precincts in which voters must cast their ballots. Voters uncertain as to where to vote may call 876-6600.

In Madison School District 12, voters will ballot in four precincts. These include: Pct. 1, Madison Junior High School, Third and Alton, for the area south of the alley between Fifth and Sixth streets from State to Race street, including the Cloverleaf area and part of Eagle Park Acres; Pct. 2, for the area north of the alley between Fifth and Sixth streets and between Elizabeth and State streets.

Pct. 3, Blair School, College and Mercedocia, for the area between Weaver and State streets and between Elizabeth and Brown streets; Pct. 4, Dunbar School, Third and Jackson, for the area from the west side of Weaver to the river, and between Brown and Klein streets.

Voters in Venice School District 3 will ballot in two precincts. Precinct 1 voters living within the corporate limits of the city of Venice will vote at the Venice High School Gymnasium, 740 Broadway; Precinct 2 voters who live within the school district but outside the corporate limits of the city of Venice will vote at the Eagle Park Improvement Association Building at 100 Hill St., Eagle Park.

Plant sewer proceeding, township is displeased

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

A fight between Nameoki Township and the Archer Daniels Midland Co. soybean processing plant now under construction on Carlgill Road seems to be shaping up over rights-of-way for construction of a sewer from the plant to Granite City. Construction of the line already has begun.

Nameoki Township officials still are clearly feeling the sting of criticism they received by allowing the plant to become annexed from the township into Granite City in July 1973.

Despite protests that the township had no legal means to stop the annexation, township officials in general, and Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell in particular, have continued to face open opposition caused by the plant's annexation.

With Whitsell seeking reelection to the Madison County Board in the November general election, he is trying to find some way to show his constituents that he still is trying to act in their interests where the soybean plant is concerned.

This public resentment of the plant may lead to a head-on confrontation as ADM seeks a right-of-way through a portion of the township for its waste line before the plant can begin operation. The start of operations has been anticipated for this spring.

and are proceeding with the owners' permission," a spokesman said.

A meeting on the sewer plans was to have been held Tuesday between Leo Konzen, attorney for ADM, Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Albert Bell, William Schooley, attorney for the township, and Whitsell, but had to be postponed because Konzen was unable to attend and Bell was forced to leave due to a death in his family. Whitsell said he will reschedule the meeting as soon as possible.

ARREST JUVENILE
A 15-year-old boy was arrested and another has been identified in connection with the attempted burglary of the mobile home of Mrs. Wilma Coggins, 2710 Denver St., at 10:50 p.m. Tuesday. Police caught one boy at the scene and another ran after a window of the mobile home was broken.

Khoury League registration

Jim Greer, a spokesman for the Madison Khoury League, has announced that registration for 7 to 16-year-old boys who wish to participate in the league's 1974 baseball program will be accepted from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at the Memorial Center, Seventh Street and Lee Avenue.

Greer said each youngster is required to bring his birth certificate and a $5 deposit fee at time of registration for the program which will begin the first week of June.

Headed that boys signing up Saturday will attend, at no cost, the St. Louis Cardinal vs. Atlanta Braves game in St. Louis on Tuesday, April 30.

Cahokia is North's first track victim

"We captured the meet in the field events," commented GCHS North's track coach Harry Lang after Steeler trackmen squeaked past Cahokia Tuesday, 71-70, at South Field for the Stealers' first victory this season.

In capturing 49 of a possible 56 points in field events, Stealers swept the first three finishing spots in three events and earned first places in the remaining three.

First place trackmen for North were the 880 yard relay squad (1:41.3), Rich Morlan in the 330 yard intermediate hurdles (44.1), Mike Donoff in the 100 yard dash (10.8), Ed Opich in the shot put (48-2 1/2) and discus (152-2). Tom Stevenson the long jump (30-10 1/2), Rick Demaree in the high jump (5-10), Mark LaRose in the triple jump (40-4), and Bob Sampson in the pole vault (12-6).

"Sampson," said Coach Lang, "is a sophomore who has the potential to break the 13-5/8 Madison County Meet Pole Vault record set in 1972 by Granite City's Robert Kratz. He had cleared 14 feet in practice, and against Belleville East cleared 13-6."

Second places went to the 440 relay squad, Steve Crab in the 100 dash, the one-mile relay team, James Woodward in the discus, Tom Stevenson in the triple jump, Dave Hamilton in the shot put, and Daryl Page in the pole vault.

Steeler third place athletes who assisted in a clean sweep of three field events were Jim Barker in the shot put and discus, and Larry Schlenker in the triple jump.

Extend Mitchell AC registration

Mitchell Athletic Club Secretary Myron Merz has announced that youngsters still are needed to fill positions in the club's 1974 boys' baseball and girls' softball programs.

He said that registration for 7 to 15-year-old youngsters wishing to participate in either program is being extended another week, and will be held from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the Mitchell Athletic Club gymnasium. A $4 per person registration fee will be required. Additional information is available from Merz at 931-1218.

Errors hurt, North loses 4-1

GCHS North collected three hits yesterday at Belleville East but the host school got four hits and took advantage of four Steeler errors to win 4-1.

North's only run came in the sixth inning. Al Pelate scored on Harvey Breckner's single after having singled and advanced on an infield out.

The other hit was a single by Mark Davis in the bottom of the seventh.

East committed no errors and scored twice in the second inning and twice in the fifth. Steve Wickes was the winning pitcher. The Stealers utilized three pitchers, John Scott, four innings, and Dave Heth and Davis.

The Granite City Park District is seeking more junior high school students to compete in the park softball program. Team managers also are needed.

Those wishing further information may contact Mike Jeseke at the park office, 877-3069.

3-2 conquest by tennis Stealers

The tennis Stealers of GCHS North captured three matches here yesterday to defeat Westlin High of Trenton 3-2.

GC youth to compete in national diving event

David Lindsay, 17, a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lindsay, 3308 Maryville Road, will compete against more than 40 other youths at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in a four-day National YMCA Diving Meet beginning Wednesday, April 24. A senior at Granite City High School North, Lindsay earned the right to compete in the national meet when he captured second place over 84 other youths last month in the Illinois State Diving Championships at Edwardsville.

He advanced to the Edwardsville competition by virtue of first-place finishes in two dual meets and a second-place finish in district competition.

"I started diving," said Lindsay, "seven years ago at the Paddlers Pool here. I owe all of my training and guidance to my coach, Gayle McCormick."

Mrs. McCormick said of the young athlete, "This is the first time Dave will compete in the nationals. He earned the right to compete last year, but because of an unforeseen happening did not make the trip."

He will graduate next month from North High School and has been accepted on an athletic scholarship at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston.

"I am interested," he said, "but before making final plans I am inquiring at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale because of its extensive swimming and gymnastics program."

His brother, Lindell, 15, also an avid swimming and diving competitor, missed a chance to compete in Florida with David after finishing fourth in the one-meter springboard event in the Edwardsville meet.

Nameoki may lose fire service in E. Madison

Repeated threats that the Madison Fire Department may discontinue service to the East Madison area, which is in Nameoki Township and not in the Madison city limits, were voiced again this week to the Nameoki Town Board.

Louis Whittell, Nameoki Township supervisor, told the township's board of auditors Monday night that Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison has contacted him indicating some form of compensation for Madison firemen must be arranged or the halting of fire service to the East Madison area will be necessary.

Whittell said the city's fire department receives no revenue from that area and actually is depriving the city of some protection during fires in East Madison.

Sasyk also recalled that a wall fell on a Madison fireman during a fire in East Madison two weeks ago and that the city has had to accept the costs of medical care for his injuries.

Whittell told the board he plans to meet with Sasyk as soon as possible to discuss the fire protection situation.

Auditor W. Lee Adams said he thought the township should consider creation of a fire department to serve the East Madison, Eagle Park Acres and Bend Road areas. Whittell replied that sufficient funding for such a department does not seem to be available in that area.

The auditors accepted the resignation of Loren Arnold from the board of trustees of the Long Lake Fire Protection District. It was noted that she was the first woman in the state to be appointed to a fire protection district board.

Auditors were told that a new priority number is to be released by Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for the proposed Four Township Interceptor Sewers program today in Springfield. The state is to provide grant money for the interceptors and the federal government is to fund, in part, the collector sewers.

Board members voted unanimously to approve a $8,200 road and bridge budget, but added the budget may be amended at a later date if a new contract with township highway employees is signed and requires additional funds. Revenue sharing funds also may be added, if necessary, it was said.

The tentative budget was presented to township residents March 26 during a public hearing on the document. It was approved as presented at that meeting.

The document was approved after Whittell recommended its passage. A motion to approve it was made by Auditor Eugene Gargie, was seconded by Adams and was approved on a 5-0 vote, with all including Whittell voting.

Adams said attempts to obtain drainage for the Lakeview Estates area have struck an impass as the state highway department has agreed to provide the manpower for digging a ditch from the area to Long Lake, but only if Nameoki Township will obtain rights-of-way for the ditch.

Adams said he feels the state is responsible for providing drainage because the majority of the water is coming from Highway 111 which is at a higher elevation than the subdivision.

Residents of Lakeview Estates have indicated they may file a class action suit against the state if drainage is not provided, Adams said.

The auditors voted to amend payment of the town collector,

Richard Peck, from $6,000 per year to $500 per month, retroactive to January. Peck had indicated he wished to be paid for his work thus far.

A complaint was heard from a township resident that drainage has been blocked on Harrison Street at DeLynn Drive, and water is standing as deep as three feet in places. Schooley informed the resident that a civil suit may be initiated against anyone blocking the drainage. Schooley was asked by the board to investigate what action the township can take to relieve the situation.

The board voted to advertise for bids on a mimeograph machine for use in the township offices.

A federal revenue sharing check was received for $13,107, the auditors were told.

Deputy is suspended

Sheriff John Maeras of Madison said Tuesday he is suspending Deputy Norman Pilka of Godfrey from active duty while Maeras investigates allegations that individuals participated in test paper cheating at Lewis and Clark Community College.

The sheriff said the suspension was ordered because Pilka's name was included in a 10-page report prepared by the college. Maeras received a copy of the report Monday. A copy also went to State's Attorney Nicholas Byron.

LCCC President Wilbur Trimpe alleged that one deputy and four college security guards were involved in a scheme to copy future tests in a law enforcement class. All four guards have resigned.

The college report said incidents have been going on for at least a year and a half. Deputies receive higher pay after completing enforcement classes.

people of Madison. It was needed to fix reasonable standards to which building of structures must conform, and to encourage permanent commercial, residential and industrial development within the city, he said.

The ordinance and housing code have been published in booklet form and are available for study by the public at the comptroller's office, 159 Third St., between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The city has been zoned with the following designations: R-1, one-family dwelling requiring a 50-foot lot; R-2, one-family dwelling requiring a 40-foot lot; R-3, multiple family dwelling; R-4, planned residential; B-1, neighborhood business; B-2, community business; B-3, planned commercial, and I-1, industrial.

The housing code covers general requirements relating to safe and sanitary maintenance of dwellings, space and occupancy, and minimum standards for light and ventilation, occupancy permits and fees.

The housing code requires an occupancy permit be issued before any new residents or business may occupy an existing structure. It does not apply to any occupancy in existence at this time.

The fee for a permit is $2 for each unit occupied and there is a $15 fee for inspection before a new occupancy can take place.

A Board of Appeals will be set up for both the zoning ordinance and housing code.

The council authorized the mayor and the street committee to meet with Sheppard, Morgan and Schwab, civil engineers, to discuss the paving of Collinsville Avenue from McCambridge Avenue to Madison Avenue. The work will include curbs, gutters, sidewalks and drainage structures.

A grant which will pay 70 percent of the cost is available from the Federal Aid Urban System, officials reported.

The council authorized the fire department to seek bids on 1,000 feet of hose.

A discussion on improving the appearance of the city was held. Alderman John Haynes said, "We are making some real gains in the West Madison area. It is a first class residential section. We are having real problems with a junk area in the 700 block of West Washington and I would like Health and Building Inspector Curtis King to meet with our street department and take whatever steps are necessary to get it cleaned up. The area is full of rats and is a health hazard."

Mayor Mike Sully suggested that due to a recent increase in hospitalization insurance costs the city should seek new ideas. The council concurred.

Mayor Sully instructed Chief of Police Robert J. Pappas that since no one has applied for a massage or masseuse license, he go to the massage parlor on Second street and inform the operators that anyone performing massage there would be arrested and prosecuted.

School candidates cite qualifications, issues

Improved hiring procedures were pledged by Dr. Felicia Koch and Harold Davis during a Granite City School Board candidate forum Tuesday night. Incumbents Davis, Donald Stucke and George Moore Sr. cited their experience in dealing with education issues.

Eight of the nine seeking three-year board terms participated before an audience of 125 in the South High auditorium.

Moore said state school funding needs are estimated at $170 million but $102 million is being budgeted, threatening a severe fiscal problem that will require response by the most able and experienced board members available.

Supposed state financial remedies would add debt-ridden schools more than the "in the black for 13 years" Granite City district, Moore asserted.

Board President Donald Stucke described ideal qualities for school board service and stressed his efforts to serve the entire public through knowledge, judgment and effort.

Davis and Dr. Koch urged that residents vote for both of them in Saturday's election as a way of assuring representation for labor and the professions as well as other occupations currently represented on the board.

Dr. Koch, a physician, said Nelson Hedger called for election of a relatively young board member to aid in understanding and responding to the needs of young people. He described the school system as the best in Illinois.

Cecil Williams did not take part in the forum, which was sponsored by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and Quad-Cities Ministerial Association.

Attorney Leo H. Konzen, moderator, called for a large turnout by voters. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Ellis Dugger, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church.

Konzen praised the caliber of the candidates and talks. They were no dramatic assertions, but the speakers were given the opportunity to briefly summarize their earlier talks and then to urge that all eligible voters vote.

Most limited their comments to explanations of why they should be elected, but Dr. Koch he is pleased the belief changes are needed in the board's membership and approach.

Stucke stressed the school district's adherence to open, competitive bidding on contracts and supplies. Moore noted that the district recently blanketed Collinsville 5-0 at Wilson Park yesterday.

South singles victors were Bill Rickard, 5-0, John Bruch 5-0-6 and Frank Faulkner 6-2, 6-2. In doubles, Steve McCluskey and Alan Davenport won 6-0, 6-0. The boys' singles and doubles won 6-1, 6-1.

Madison youth is charged

Henry Byrd Jr., 20, of 909 Jefferson St., Madison was charged with burglary from a freight car at 8:35 p.m. Wednesday.

metal from around the trapped foot.

Police, rescue workers and Mercer Ambulance personnel kept trying to encourage Adams during the long ordeal of cutting him free. Patrolman Ronald Selph kept telling Adams, "It's going to be all right. They will have you out soon."

Adams stayed conscious throughout the rescue efforts, saying to his rescuers, "Please help me get out. Come on, come on. It's squeezing my leg, man. It's squeezing my leg."

Curtis was removed by ambulance from the scene as soon as the first ambulance arrived. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with abrasions to his right leg and lower back and an injury to his right side. He was admitted in fair condition.

Police at the accident scene attempted to contact local doctors to assist Adams during the rescue efforts but were unable to locate a doctor who would come to the scene. Officers placed a bandage on the youth's forehead to help stop bleeding from two cuts to his head.

When Adams was freed, he was taken by another ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted in poor condition with a two-inch cut to the right side of his forehead, a half-inch cut to his left temple, a broken pelvis, multiple abrasions to his body and limbs and injuries to his left leg, ankle and foot. Doctors said he lost about two pints of blood from his injuries.

exemptions claimed by elderly persons 65 or older who are entitled to a $1,500 assessment reduction on property which they own and occupy.

The homestead exemptions are not extended by the local assessors, but are applied by the review board after the local assessors send their figures to the board.

The $714,805 increase in Nameoki Township values is substantially less than the increase of $1,633,895 referred to the review board by the local assessor. The local assessor figures set Nameoki values at $44,098,850, but review board action and the homestead exemptions reduced the amount of the increase to the $714,805 figure.

Nameoki taxpayers protested the valuation boosts at the time they were fixed by the local assessors and since have filed a class action suit. They charged the Nameoki assessment increases were discriminatory since reductions were effected in most other townships.

The combined property values of all four Quad-City townships for the 1973 year amount to $286,783,770, down from the $295,812,275 of the previous year.

Railroad and capital stock valuations fixed by the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs still are to be added to the local valuations for the final assessment figures.

For the county as a whole, 1973 assessments total $960,048,240, down $16,958,949 from the 1972 total of $977,038,780. Valuations were increased in nine of the county's 24 townships while valuations were decreased in the other 15 townships.

Miss Hotz said that the abstract of assessments has been forwarded to the state and that computation of tax rates will begin as soon as the state evaluates the assessments and certifies a multiplying factor. Madison County has had a multiplier of one since 1956.

Effort to change primary date unlikely to succeed

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Efforts to change the Illinois primary election date face an uphill fight in the legislature. The outlook is dim for passage during the 1974 legislative session of any bill that would change the current primary date from March to June or September.

Springfield State Rep. James T. Londrigan, a Democrat, opened the change-the-primary date effort with introduction of a bill which would move the primary from the present third Tuesday in March to the second Tuesday in June. Other election bills are anticipated.

Perhaps the strongest argument among legislators against changing the primary date is that this has been done with some frequency in recent years, with the net result being confusion and consistently smaller turnouts at the polls. Since 1964, Illinois has held primaries in April, June and March. Neither political party, nor the general voting public, it seems, has been happy with any of the dates.

But most veteran Statehouse politicians believe that the traditional April date, which prevailed until the mid-1960s, is most preferred by the voters.

In the overall primary, voting has declined since the change from the April date.

The last April primary in 1964 attracted 2,154,941 voters, almost equally divided between Republicans at 1,092,681 and Democrats at 1,062,320.

That year, incidentally, marked the last time the Republicans outvoted the Democrats in an Illinois primary and this was, no doubt, due to the fact that Republicans had major contests for all state offices, including a lively fight for governor between now U.S. Sen. Charles H. Percy and now Atty. Gen. William J. Scott. Percy won the primary but lost the general election.

The Illinois primary turnout did not come close to topping two million again until last year, when the Democrats due to the primary race for governor between Daniel Walker and Lt. Gov. Paul Simon — polled 1,563,193, and the Republicans 665,412 for a grand total of 2,228,605. The 1972 primary was held on March 21. In 1968, the legislature moved the primary date to June and, in off-year 1966 — free of major races in either party — the voter turnout declined to 1,791,504.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Page 12 Thurs., Apr. 11, 1974

Two years later, voter interest plunged steeply as only 1,573,173 persons bothered to go to the polls. Republicans could attract only 739,675 voters despite a hard-fought race for governor involving the winner, Richard B. Ogilvie, and John Henry Altior, with former Gov. William G. Stratton also a contender.

Democrats without any statewide contests fell below one million votes for the first time in years in 1968, totaling only 833,498, but were still ahead of the Republicans in the primary. Ogilvie won that fall, however.

The poor showing six years ago was generally attributed by political leaders and legislators to a reluctance by Illinois citizens to take time out from warm weather activities, including school graduations and vacations, to go to the polls.

So the lawmakers in 1969 decided to shift the primary date again, this time compromising on March. But the result was scarcely encouraging; 1,570,317 votes were cast, split between the Democrats at 819,692, and the Republicans at 750,625.

Democrats had no statewide contests, but the Republicans had a race for U.S. senator between the appointive incumbent, Ralph Tyler Smith, and William H. Reischer. Smith won and then lost in November 1970.

Although official statistics have not yet been compiled, unofficial tabulations show that the March 1974 primary attracted one of the smallest turnouts in history.

Materials manager named

Terrance J. Baudhuin, 36, has been named materials manager for A.O. Smith Corporation's Automotive Division, it was announced this week by David H. Stueber, vice president and general manager.

Baudhuin, who has been manager of production and material control since 1971, will be filling a new position at Milwaukee for the auto and truck frame manufacturers. The division's facilities include the Smith auto frame plant in Granite City.

In his new post, Baudhuin will be in charge of all product activities, is responsible for the traffic and shipping of both incoming raw material and outgoing finished products, supervises inventory levels of all goods within the plant and is also the top purchasing executive in the Automotive Division.

A 1968 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, he joined A. O. Smith that year as a management trainee. He was named supervisor of production control in 1964, general supervisor of production control in 1965, manager of production control in 1968 and manager of production and material control in 1971. Smith's Automotive Division is the world's largest manufacturer of automobile and truck frames. Sales in the division in 1972 totaled $315 million. A. O. Smith, with its subsidiaries, is a widely diversified manufacturer of electric motors, meter systems, auto and truck frames, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, water heating equipment, elevators and other products.

It is possible that a shift all the way to September would revive voter interest in Illinois primaries.

But political considerations, linked to U.S. Sen. Charles H. Percy's 1976 Presidential ambitions, probably rule out any such major change at present. Percy wants to be able to campaign in an Illinois

Presidential primary in March, before the primaries of most other states, in order to begin "bandwagon" momentum.

found behind Kirkpatrick Homes but the woman's billfold, containing some change and personal papers, had been taken.

Benefit sale, car wash set

A three-day sale of clothing, furniture and other household items will be held beginning today and continuing through Saturday as a benefit to raise funds for William McCutchen, 38, who needs extended treatment at the Mayo Clinic for a rare form of neuritis.

A car wash at the Mobil Station, W. Pontoon and Nameoki roads, also is planned as a benefit Saturday. Although McCutchen, who has been ill for 21 years and has lost total use of his limbs, lives in Charleston, Mo., he has relatives in this area, including a sister, Mrs. Harold Dickerman of Granite City. He is the father of four children.

The sale is to be held at 4741 Warnock Ave. and will begin at 9 a.m. on each of the three days. Persons who wish to contribute items for the sale may call 931-2219 or 931-5214.

Driver hurt in Pontoon

Eugene Szakacs, 32, of Collinsville, was injured when his car went out of control on Highway 162 just west of Highway 111 in Pontoon Beach at 11:20 p.m. Monday and struck a utility pole, advertising sign, mailbox and antique wooden barrel.

The auto overturned and came to rest in the yard of Jean Helton, Rural Route One, Box 348.

Szakacs was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital unconscious and with abrasions to his forehead and possible internal injuries. He was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Kiwanians plan hydroplane races

The tentative date for the Kiwanis-sponsored hydroplane races on Horseshoe Lake is Sunday, July 14, according to Howard Ebertson, president of the Evening Kiwanis Club.

The group's meeting Monday, was devoted to discussion of the event which attracts top rated drivers and hydroplanes from all over the country.

The hydroplanes reach speeds exceeding 100 miles per hour and are powered by alcohol and nitro fuels.

Kiwanian Bill Seebold is chairman of the races. Ticket chairman is Michael Tondas and publicity chairman is Joseph Palovchik.

Robert Schoeber, owner of Schoeber's Kitchen Mart, was introduced as a prospective member.

BURGLARY ON WILSON
Items worth about $915 were stolen from the home of Norman Russell, 2301 Wilson Ave., it was reported Monday. The kitchen door was forced open. Taken from the living room were the television, stereo, tape player, electric guitar and amplifier.

Venice mayor vote Tuesday

Venice city voters will go to the polls Tuesday to elect a mayor to fill the vacancy created by the death last Nov. 30 of the late Dr. John E. Lee. Only one candidate is on the ballot. William "Mike" Ebersold, now Venice city clerk, but space for write-in votes will be provided on the ballot. No organized write-in campaign has developed.

Polling places, one in each of the city's four wards, will open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. Voting tabulations will be reported to the Venice city hall. Polling places will be located at:

Ward One, 1007 Hall, Second and Granville streets; Ward Two, St. Mark's Church, Sixth Street and Lincoln Avenue; Ward Three, 1051 Douglas St., and Ward Four, 107 Weaver St.

Man hit by car on Madison Ave.

Arthur L. Douglas, 48, of 2215 Edna St., was injured when he was struck by the westbound auto of Robert Fallon, Chicago, on Madison Avenue about 30 p.m. west of 28th Street at 2:30 p.m. Monday.

Douglas, who was crossing the street, was thrown about five feet by the impact, according to witnesses.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for contusions to his face and left eye area. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Downtown egg hunt Saturday

An Easter egg hunt in downtown Granite City will be staged Saturday afternoon for youngsters 3 to 10 years old under sponsorship of Downtown Granite City, Inc.

The hunt will begin at 1 p.m. in Civic Park with one-half the area used for children's 3 to 6, and the other half for boys and girls 7 to 10. Participating youngsters must be accompanied by adults.

Earl Harris, operator of Earl's Discount Store, is chairman of the event. He said rules of the event will prohibit parents from accompanying youngsters into the grassy areas and that each child must furnish his own container. No child is to enter areas where flowers are planted because eggs will be hidden only in the grassy area.

Assisting with the event will be members of Delta Chi fraternity of SIUE and Explorer Post 10-4. Both groups will be under the direction of Vince Saputo, associate advisor of 10-4 and vice-regent of Delta Chi.

Plastic eggs filled with jelly beans will be hidden in the park. Each child will receive candy before leaving.

Many of the downtown stores will offer Easter specials to shoppers that day.

Square dance class Saturday

Beginning square dancers are being requested to attend square dancing classes for adults being held monthly at the Nameki Recreation Center, Franklin and Amos avenues, the second Saturday of each month from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Senior citizens are especially urged to attend the classes which are free for all Granite City Park District residents. There is a small charge for non-residents.

Further information is available from the park office at 877-3059.

ARREST 5 YOUTHS

Four boys and one girl, ages 15 and 16, were charged with disorderly conduct after a disturbance in the arcade of the Bellemore Village Shopping Center at 9:35 a.m. Monday. Police blocked both ends of the arcade, but some students escaped by running through Glik's Department Store. An employee there was pushed against a wall and sustained minor injuries, police said.

Hiring policy an issue in Granite City School Board voting Saturday

One of the most spirited elections in recent years is in prospect for Granite City Board of Education balloting from noon to 7 p.m. Saturday.

Despite Easter weekend travel, we encourage all who are eligible to make sure they cast a vote. School board members spend most of each property tax dollar, and a quality instructional program is of great importance to local families.

Granite City schools have managed to provide high-caliber, imaginative, efficient educational services despite the pressures of inflation, a shrinking tax base, changing capacity requirements, mandatory staff expansions and other evolving needs.

This reflects credit on both the administrative staff and the board. There has been a drift toward greater political interest in school issues and increased involvement by the board in selecting specific new employees from extended lists of applicants certified by the administration as acceptable.

While absolute dictation by the administrative staff on all hiring might be too extreme, those shouldering the day-to-day responsibilities and interviewing prospective workers need to have a considerable voice, accrediting bodies contend.

With this in mind, the public may wish to consider making some changes in board members. Applying this to specific cases is more difficult due to the high competency

2 incumbents among candidates for 3 Venice Board of Education posts

The Venice Board of Education election Saturday is receiving more than the usual degree of interest, perhaps reflecting the financial squeeze that has seen some services eliminated and three tax rate referendums suffer defeat.

All five aspirants for three board positions appear to be attractive candidates and there could be close competition.

Experience in school matters is offered by Elmer Taylor, a board member for the past nine years, and Jack Tolliver, with seven years of board service. Both hold positions in federal government agencies. A third incumbent, Leo Davinroy, did not file for re-election.

William M. Gathright Jr., a counselor in the special services program at State Community College, East St. Louis, holds a master degree in counselor education from SIUE and is a candidate for a doctoral degree in health organization research at St. Louis University.

Mrs. Lucille Kalogerou, a school bus driver, would seek to assure continued operation of the Venice school system. "So our children get a good education."

William J. Fechte, an operating engineer and president of the Venice Band Parents, proposes to explore ways of reinstating art and music instruction.

Both Taylor and Tolliver have been conscientious members of the board, and Tolliver also has been active in the Quad-City special education district. We lean toward them and Mr. Gathright but also regard the other candidates as capable of serving effectively.

Miss Almada Lahr, C. Mike Michaeloff Jr., Cecil E. Williams agree with the complaints but at the same time I wonder how many people who will be affected by this proposal voted in the past city election?

How many are going to vote in the next one?

City, township and school elections are the foundation of our country. They really have more influence on our life style than the Presidential election.

On April 13, the Saturday election, the American Federation of Teachers Local 743 bulletin reporting on the March general meeting said:

Our union endorses George Moore, C. Mike Michaeloff, Don Stucke for Board of Education election Saturday, April 13.

"Past Presidents Bob Johnson, John Boyer and Jon Mullen expressed the opinion that these gentlemen will be conscientious and could be counted on as a positive force on the board."

Fair hiring issue in school election

To the Editor:

This is an open report to the 1,100 people who entrusted me with the position of member of the Granite City Unit District No. 9 School Board in the April 1972 election. I feel it imperative that I report to you at this time.

During this one year I have learned many things. Just one example of this was my goal to develop a fair and consistent hiring practice from substitute lists. I have learned that a school member cannot accomplish this for you—it takes four or more.

You have undoubtedly heard there is a power struggle within your School Board. This is true—there is a power struggle. The minority board members are attempting to place the power of control in the hands of the people of this community, away from the political machine.

Some of you may ask, "So what if the political machine does control our School Board?" When political allies work together toward a common election, debts or favors arise among them. These could result in political hirings to repay past favors.

This could be particularly hazardous in the area of teacher hiring. Dare we take that chance of our children's futures?

Now the local politicians have proclaimed their interest in the Granite City School Board election. What can stop them? There is only one answer: people—concerned people—who care enough about their children's education, their school system and their community, to vote for a change in the upcoming election Saturday, April 13.

As to my actions on your (citizen's) behalf, let me say I will continue to ask, and vote in your best interests, even if this results in another two-column slashing from our board's president on the front page of this paper.

Your School Board is about to hold what will undoubtedly go down in history as the most important election ever held in Granite City.

This or that will determine whether control of our school system is with the machine or with the taxpayers of this community.

Some of you must know by now how I personally feel about the candidates. Harold Davis was an easy choice, based simply upon his past record on the board and direct opposition to the many political machine desires.

Harold represents the vote of unionized labor to our system. My second choice was also easy—Dr. Felicia Koch can gain neither fame nor fortune by being a member of this board. Her only motive is to be of service to the community she loves.

She represents the voting interests of a mother, a woman and the professions. Her straightforward nature will assure you of her integrity. There are several excellent choices for the third candidate. Evaluate them carefully.

The issue is "hour of decision"—the decision that only you the voters, can make.

Board affects local life, pocketbooks

To the Forum:

In a recent issue of the Press-Record there were several complaints about a proposed "occupancy permit."

I agree with the complaints but at the same time I wonder how many people who will be affected by this proposal voted in the past city election?

How many are going to vote in the next one? City, township and school elections are the foundation of our country. They really have more influence on our life style than the Presidential election.

On April 13, the Saturday election, the American Federation of Teachers Local 743 bulletin reporting on the March general meeting said:

Our union endorses George Moore, C. Mike Michaeloff, Don Stucke for Board of Education election Saturday, April 13.

"Past Presidents Bob Johnson, John Boyer and Jon Mullen expressed the opinion that these gentlemen will be conscientious and could be counted on as a positive force on the board."

Our union stressed that it was vital that we act as a strong group in this election due to impending salary negotiations. "All union teachers were urged to make certain that they, their families and their friends vote in this important election. Volunteers are needed to help.

All persons willing to give a little time for these union candidates should call Mrs. Pat (Patsmore) Michaeloff as soon as possible. All volunteers will be greatly appreciated."

It seems to me that certain parts of this official bulletin point to an alliance between these candidates and Local 743.

New furniture labeling will aid shoppers

By WILLIAM J. SCOTT
Illinois Attorney General

If you're buying furniture this spring, you'll have some new labeling help.

This is a result of new Federal Trade Commission guidelines for the household furniture industry, which became effective March 21.

Just as "you can't always tell a book by its cover," you can't always tell how well — or of what — a piece of furniture is made by looking at it.

A table may look like walnut, but not contain one grain of the actual wood. A couch may look like leather, but in reality contain no leather at all.

Now you won't have to guess any longer. Just look for a label — either on the furniture itself or on a tag prominently in view — to discover what materials actually are contained in the piece of furniture in which you are interested.

The furniture industry had coined a number of descriptive terms and trade names that did more to cover up than to disclose the actual contents of furniture products: for example, such terms as "molded composites," "valuable plastic," "carved effect" or "Duralayde."

From now on, these terms are their like will not suffice. The FTC says the manufacturer either must disclose the true composition of the furniture or its parts: for example, "plastic," "vinyl," "marble particles with binder," or must state that the material is not what it appears to be: for example, "simulated wood," "imitation leather," "stained marble."

Also . . . When wood names are used merely to describe the color or a stain finish and/or grain design or other simulated finish applied to the exposed surfaces of furniture that is composed of something other than solid wood of the types named, it must be made clear that the wood names are merely descriptive.

"Terms such as 'walnut finish' or 'fruitwood finish' will not suffice. Terms such as 'walnut color,' 'fruitwood satin finish' must be used when applicable.

Similar disclosure guidelines apply to the fabric outer coverings of furniture. For example, it is false to use the term "moirai" to describe a fabric not produced from fibers derived from the angora goat.

On outer coverings made of a mixture of different fibers, the amount and kind of each fiber present should be identified: for example, "55 per cent cotton, 45 per cent rayon."

And no manufacturer should say a fabric has been "tested" unless he has documentation of such tests and provides a statement, in laymen's language, as to the test results.

Strong labeling guidelines also are in effect for furniture stuffing, padding and the like. Cotton stuffing no longer can be described as "wool," or urethane foam as "latex foam rubber."

If foam rubber stuffing is shredded or flaked, you should be told.

You also should be told if any parts of the furniture you buy are used: for example, "cushions made from reused shredded latex foam rubber."

And the product cannot be described as, for example, "Danish" or "Danish style," unless it was made in Denmark or unless qualifying words such as "style" or "made in U.S.A." are added.

However, such widely accepted terms as "French Provincial," "Mediterranean" and the like are allowed. Though decisions as to the wording on furniture content labels are left to the manufacturers, the FTC says failure to disclose any . . .

material facts concerning merchandise which, if known to prospective purchasers, would influence their decision of whether or not to purchase . . . may be an unfair trade practice violative of Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act."

These new labeling guidelines are a major contribution in aiding consumers.

So, be sure to read all the labels on furniture you consider buying. And don't be afraid to ask questions and examine the pieces.

Are fabrics stain and spill resistant? Are arm covers included? Are there dust panels between drawers?

Are all surfaces smooth? Do you have to assemble the piece yourself? Are there good construction supports?

Are seams sewn tightly and does the material match at the seams? Do drawers open and close smoothly?

Is all hardware securely fastened? What about delivery? It can take months.

Is the piece returnable? Will there be a sale on the item in the near future?

Buyer's furniture can be a major investment. Take your time, read all the labels, and be sure of what you're buying.

All need to help control, protect dogs

To the Editor:

Incidents involving dogs are occurring in Madison County which the public should be aware of. Reports are received of dogs harassing children—particularly at school bus stops.

Recently a small dog was killed, behind its own home, by dogs owned by the neighbors. Also, dogs confined by a chain link fence were thrown stone bread which had been filled with crushed glass.

Cases are reported of persons tormenting tied or fenced-in dogs or other animals by running at them, shouting, throwing stones and other objects, or shooting at them with B-B guns.

These actions are in violation of two state statutes—the Humane Care for Animals Act and the Animal Control Act. The Humane Care for Animals Act defines an owner as one who:

"(a) has a right of property in an animal, (b) keeps or harbors an animal, (c) has an animal in his care, or (d) acts as custodian of an animal."

This Act provides the following: "Section 4. No person or owner may beat, cruelly torment, overload, overwork, or otherwise abuse any animal. . . . No owner may abandon any animal where it may become a public charge or may suffer injury, hunger or exposure. "Section 5. No person may knowingly poison or cause to be poisoned any dog or other domestic animal."

Enforcement is provided for by the appointment of humane investigators by the Department of Agriculture who are empowered to investigate complaints, prescribe corrective measures, and take legal action if necessary.

The law also specifies provision for fines as well as prosecution as Class C misdemeanors and petty offenses. The law is clear—people have the responsibility for humane care of animals.

The Animal Control Act pertains to licensing and regulation of dogs, stray animal control, rabies prevention, dog owner's liability and dogs as nuisances.

It carefully spells out requirements of the law—including the apprehension and impoundment of dogs that run at large.

The County Leash Law adds further dimensions by specifying that dogs may not run at large in any unincorporated area of the county which is subdivided for residence purposes. This means that in subdivided areas each dog owner must restrict his animals to his property.

The county law also provides for impoundment and penalty fines of up to $50.

By way of enforcement, the state statute provides that proper officers "may enter upon private premises to apprehend a straying dog or other animal."

When the residents of Madison County fully observe these laws and recognize their individual responsibilities for restraining their dogs and reporting to the Animal Control Office (692-462) violations of these laws, we will begin to control the problems caused by dogs.

Also, the indiscriminate breeding of dogs will be slowed down to the point where effective spay and neuter programs could cope with the explosive animal population.

All of these positive results depend entirely upon the cooperation of Madison County. Will we obey the laws, report violations, and work for cooperation between citizens and enforcement agencies?

Or will we condone the irresponsible acts of ourselves and others, thus allowing lawlessness and its unpleasant effects to function and flourish? We—each one of us—holds the key.

School employe called conscientious

To the Editor:

I firmly believe that what a writer insinuated in his letter April 8 about Mrs. Stucke (wife of School Board president, employed as a secretary) working as a "political plum" was entirely unfair. She has worked with Mrs. Stucke and have found that she is very conscientious and does an excellent job. I suggest that Mr. Partney pick on someone else.

South High Band praised at contest

Unreserved praise dominated the comments written about the Granite City High School South Band by adjudicators at the Illinois State High School Association Band Contest at Freeburg during the weekend.

The 80-member band received a first rating for its performance under the direction of Joseph Owens, GCIS-South director.

Page 22 Thurs., Apr. 11, 1974

Observations ranging from "Superb, good articulation and very good intonation" to "Aggressive and very mature performance" were recorded by Judges E. H. Kirschoff, assistant superintendent of Belleville School District; John A. Birchler of the Chester School District; Bill Cohnmeyer, Cahokia band director; and Mel Stener of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

The youthful musicians played three prepared selections for three judges: "King Cotton March" by John Philip Sousa; "First Movement" from "Symphony No. 2" by Alexandre Borodin; and "Festival" by Clifton Williams.

The band then moved to a different area and performed a composition at sight for another judge, Owens said.

Bichler noted in his evaluation report: "Very mature concept sound band... plays very musically rather than mechanically. This is a very fine band. Congratulations on a job well done. I also thought that you did a fine job in selecting good music with musical value for a contest. Tremendous!"

"Beautiful attention to dynamic contrast. The acoustics did not detract from the crispness and precision of this performance. Best balance I have heard today. The contrast between a traditional and a more contemporary selection provided me the opportunity to judge between the two eras. I personally think an excellent choice," were Kirschoff's comments.

Cohnmeyer said: "Outstanding performance. Band does everything with great feeling... fine tone and intonation. Borodin and Festival both played beautifully. Congratulations."

"A very thorough and good explanation by the director and excellent discipline. All seemed interested and aware of the importance. This was well played... played with much confidence," Stener wrote.

In his own comments regarding the South Band's presentation at the state contest, Director Owens said, "I am very pleased with the accomplishments of these musicians. They are fine representatives of this community's music program."

30-year pins to the two guests of honor.

Mrs. Schlingman led a discussion on plans for a district convention to be held in Wood River on April 20. About 25 attended the special luncheon event at St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church.

Miss Julianna Hoedebeck, program chairman, spoke on "What it means to be a Member of the Daughters of Isabella" and read a poem, entitled "I'm Fine." Mrs. Ann Pare recited "Senior Citizen" and "We Love People."

Mrs. Pare served as chairman of the dinner committee assisted by Misses Mary Kastelle, Ann Acquaviva, Julianna Hoedebeck, Mesdames Veronica Patrick, Gusie Munsterman, Margaret Rimarchik, Martha Kouzsek, Ann Pieper, Frances Skubish, Margaret Richardson and Rosalia Johannmeier.

A covered dish luncheon was served at the noon hour to members and guests from Highland, Belleville and East St. Louis. Eastern colors and appointments reflecting the season were used to create the attractive table decor.

Mrs. Linda Schlingman, most excellent chief, was in charge of the business session. Special visitors were among those introduced, including three past grand chiefs, Mrs. Velma Neubauer of Highland, Mrs.

Mrs. Lambert introduced Miss Irma Manning, vice-regent; Mrs. Peggy Kravich, a past regent; Mrs. Grace Range, recording secretary; and Rev. Mattingly.

Band does everything with great feeling... fine tone and intonation. Borodin and Festival both played beautifully. Congratulations."

"A very thorough and good explanation by the director and excellent discipline. All seemed interested and aware of the importance. This was well played... played with much confidence," Stener wrote.

Those attending were Debra Burnett, Susie Burnett, Laurie Butler, Alice Childers, Maryann Colbert, Joan Krystopa, Mary Loftus, Kim Overath and Melissa Overath, accompanied by Mrs. Marion Hill and Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt.

During a meeting earlier in the week, all newly-elected officers assumed their duties. Maryann Colbert, president, opened the meeting, held at the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church.

Joan Krystopa gave the pledge of allegiance and Mary Loftus led the 4-H pledge. The new vice-president, Melissa Overath, called the roll with members answering with the name of their favorite friend. Alice Childers and Debra Burnett gave the secretary and treasurer's report, respectively.

Plans were made for the club to sell candy during April and May as a fund-raising project. Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt, leader, reviewed the girls' progress on current projects and announced extra assistance will be given each one at sessions from 7 to 8:30 on Monday evenings at the church.

Demonstrations were given by Melissa Overath on "Table Settings," Joan Krystopa, "Tips on Baking," Kim Overath on "How To make different Stitches," Linda Grebel, "How To Fry Chicken," Susie Burnett, "Cooking Eggs," Mary Loftus, "Preparations for Lofus Food."

The next meeting will be on May 2 at the church.

Cancer Crusade leaders

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Two Granite City men have been named to head the area's Cancer Crusade taking place during April in the Quad-Cities.

The 1974 drive chairman is Joe Lucido, 2541 E. 25th St., and Ronald F. Luebber, 2138 Johnson Road. At the present time, they are continuing to organize a door-to-door solicitation drive, scheduled for later this month.

Assisting the co-chairmen in arranging a volunteer force are Mrs. Harriet Horn and Mrs. Lily Chaboude. Serving as Business Crusade chairman is Earl Dotzauer of First Granite City National Bank.

Luebber is employed as a mechanic at Nestle Co., Inc. He is recording secretary of Local 572, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, and serves as vice-chairman of the Unihav Fellowship for physicians and scholars for students also are provided, Lucido noted.

Eleven per cent is expended through the Crusade to reach many persons as possible with a specific message on how to protect themselves and to seek a financial goal in Illinois of $424,243.

Administration of the society's research, education and fund-raising programs costs 10 per cent of the overall amount, the drive leaders explained.

Progress against cancer and ways of funding the fight against it dominated many news stories last year.

However, the amount available for the accelerated attack so widely heralded has been disappointingly low, according to Reuben W. Berry Jr., vice-president, personnel, Montgomery Ward & Co., and chairman of the ACS Illinois Division.

The shortage of real dollars, combined with an above average inflation in research costs, makes the ACS dollar more precious than ever to individual investigator seeking support.

Yet in spite of increased expenditures, the society was unable to fund nearly $27 million in approved projects last year, Berry said. This shortage underlines the extraordinary challenge to Crusaders in 1974.

The yield on the $25 million that is going into research in 1974 and the some $320 million the ACS has invested to date have resulted in enormous progress, however, the state chairman said.

Better methods of detecting cancer; new surgical methods enabling cancer-curing operations; new multi-million-volt radiation equipment to eradicate tumors beyond the reach of conventional x-ray; and new advances in chemotherapy, including 40 powerful drugs.

Transactional class to start

The popular psychology, known as Transactional Analysis (TA) and publicized by the book "I'm OK, You're OK," will be taught in a TA group led by Dr. L. Jim Smith, a member of the International Transactional Analysis Association, starting Sunday evening at 7 at Central Christian Church, 3020 Johnson Road.

The seven-week course is an in-depth look at the psychological ego state one finds himself in, the transactions one uses with others, the psychological games that are played and the position one finds himself in, the need for stroking and attention and how religion ties to psychology.

The basic TA course uses lectures and group experiences as a part of the learning process, the minister explained. Those interested may contact Dr. Antis at 876-0532.

Cindy Dutko is contest finalist

Miss Cindy Dutko, daughter of Madison Police Chief and Mrs. Frank Dutko, 1808 E. St., was one of ten finalists in the Miss Charleston Contest at Charleston, Ill.

A freshman student at Eastern Illinois University, Miss Dutko, 18, represented her sorority Sigma Sigma Sigma as a candidate. The contest was sponsored by the Delta Chi Fraternity.

The young woman was graduated from Madison High School in May 1973. Vince Saputo of Granite City served as vice-regent of Delta Chi, which includes the EIU chapter.

total donations. Speakers, films and literature are available without charge to individuals, organizations, industry and all other areas of communication, including the mass media.

To help keep the medical, dental and nursing professions informed of the latest advances, a total of 11 per cent provides seminars, professional literature, films and exhibits. Fellowships for physicians and scholars for students also are provided, Lucido noted.

which can actually control and cure 10 types of tumors, including some leukemias and Hodgkin's Disease.

As accelerated research yields more lifesaving techniques, the ACS will have to quicken its professional and public education programs to speed application to humans.

How can more persons be saved from cancer? The local drive leaders emphasized—early diagnosis, prompt and proper treatment and research—the latter by supporting the American Cancer Society's Crusade to help hundreds of scientists and research laboratories in their quest for new and better ways of detecting and treating cancer.

St. Bartholomew's Easter events

The Liturgy of the Cross, including the reading of the Passion according to St. John and the Great Intercessions, will mark Good Friday at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, 22nd Street and Grand Avenue.

Baker, Fischer head industrial development membership drive

Chester L. Baker, president of Tri-City Printing Company, and Harold R. Fischer, vice chairman of the First Granite City National Bank, are heading the membership drive in the Quad-City area for the Illinois Metro East industrial development program. The non-profit corporation is devoted to economic growth in this region.

Baker and Fischer said they will be seeking the support and participation of government, civic, business and labor leaders to "accelerate the momentum of potential growth in this area, underserved last year by a $20 million investment in 19 new industrial projects alone."

To stimulate such development, the corporation, established in 1965, conducts research, provides information needed for business and industrial expansion, and works for improvement projects.

Its research and informational work includes a Manufacturers Directory, "community profiles," background on available industrial sites, a bi-weekly newsletter and a bi-monthly publication that includes in-depth studies.

It works closely with county and city governmental agencies, labor unions and Chambers of Commerce.

The area embraces Madison, Monroe and St. Clair counties, with a population of more than 500,000.

Membership includes 130 individuals, businesses, organizations and governmental units.

William Boyne is president and Richard H. Dykes is executive director.

Venice electors ok budgets

Venice town electors attending two town meetings in the Venice City Hall Tuesday approved budgets totaling $207,928 for town purposes, general assistance, road and bridge programs and the federal revenue sharing account.

Approximately 15 persons attending a meeting at 1:45 p.m. gave their approval to the road and bridge fund budget of $35,735. The second meeting was held at 3 p.m. for approval of the other budget items.

The electors approved a town fund budget of $82,240, a general assistance fund budget of $81,900 and a municipal retirement fund appropriation of $17,650. The voters also approved carrying over an $8,053 balance in the revenue sharing fund to the road and bridge fund.

Although state law no longer requires town electors to take action in budget matters during annual township meetings, Venice has continued the practice of presenting its town budgets to the voters. Nameki Granite City and Chouteau Townships have not yet presented their 1974-75 budgets. All incumbent officers were reappointed and no changes were made in salary schedules during the sessions Tuesday.

Supervisor Christ Paschoff announced that a special Town Board meeting will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in the township office, 1505 Fifth St., Madison, to discuss the employment of one permanent employee in the township assessor's office, and employment of two employees for 12 weeks work in the town collector's office.

Ask U. S. to cut red tape on sewage treatment plant funds

The director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, Richard H. Briceland, has recommended to the U.S. House of Representatives that a current federal grant program be revised as a way of helping Illinois communities fight water pollution.

In a letter to Rep. James Wright of Texas, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Investigation and Oversight Hearings, he asked Congress restore eligibility for federal reimbursement to communities that wish to begin immediate construction of sewage treatment facilities, and that have complied with all federal requirements for a grant, but do not have high enough priority to get funding.

Presently, communities in Illinois and other states are essentially prohibited by U.S. Environmental Protection Agency guidelines from beginning construction on needed sewage treatment facilities until after a grant for those facilities is approved by USEPA.

Communities that do begin construction before USEPA approves grant funds forfeit all claim to such grant funding, Briceland said.

"If the federal government would allow Illinois communities to proceed with construction of their sewage treatment facilities without forfeiting their eligibility for future reimbursement, we could speed up our Illinois fight against water pollution," he asserted.

He said Presidential impoundment of funds authorized by Congress to be used for local level water pollution control projects has caused considerable delay in plans of Illinois communities to upgrade their sewage treatment facilities.

"Regardless of the ultimate findings of the courts with regard to legality of impoundment of construction grant funds, the effect of the impoundment remains," he said in the letter that upon such a change in federal guidelines, states such as Illinois could develop new ways of using state funds to better aid local governments.

"Illinois has made a firm commitment to cleaner rivers and streams," Briceland said. "Illinois citizens have approved a $750 million anti-pollution bond act and, to date, Illinois has obligated more than $121 million to communities to help them improve their sewage treatment."

"But in the last three years about half of the federal money which had been promised to assist local communities has been impounded."

GC township costs drop

The Granite City Township government had increased revenue, spent less money and ended its 1973-74 fiscal year with substantially larger balances than it did the previous year. Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer reported to the annual Granite City town meeting in City Hall Tuesday night.

Total expenditures from the township's four operating accounts during the year ending Feb. 28 amounted to $368,117, or $34,880 less than was spent during the 1972-73 year when the township had only three operating accounts, Hagnauer's report showed.

The supervisor's annual report was the only major item of business presented to approximately 20 township electors attending the 7 p.m. session in the council chambers. The new township budget was not presented during the meeting.

Other business was limited to authorization for the Town Board to retain a certified public accountant to make the annual audit of town funds. A summary of Hagnauer's report shows the township had total income of $493,004 during its fiscal year, with expenditures of $358,117, leaving a year-end balance of $134,887. The revenue included $169,996 in the town fund, $214,234 in the general assistance fund, $68,923 in the federal revenue sharing account and $22,851 in the municipal retirement account.

Expenditures were $135,867 in the town fund, leaving a balance of $34,129; $174,723 in the general assistance fund, leaving a balance of $39,511; $35,562 in the revenue sharing fund, leaving a balance of $151,360; and $11,965 in the municipal retirement fund, leaving a balance of $9,885. In comparison, Granite City last year spent a total of $392,997 from a total revenue of $443,066, leaving total balances of $50,068 in the three funds. The township did not have a revenue sharing account last year.

Expenditures during 1973-74

STOPS PURSE THEFT
Tanna Rogers, 1610 Third St., Madison, said as she was entering St. Elizabeth Hospital from the rear parking lot entrance at 5:40 p.m. Monday, she noticed two men inside at the doorway. When she entered, one of the men tried to grab her purse. The men fled outside when she pulled away.

out of the town fund, totaling $135,867, were $38,091 less than town fund disbursements of $173,958, while general assistance costs of $174,723 last year were $33,366 less than the $208,089 spent for that purpose in 1972-73.

Alderman Claude Green of the Fourth Ward served as moderator during the town meeting.

Plan GC office of Children, Family Services Department

A year-long reorganization by the state Department of Children and Family Services is nearing completion as the agency's 18 geographic areas establish a network of service offices. Director Jerome G. Miller told the Press-Record this week.

The department expects to have 82 full-time and 25 part-time direct service offices in 67 Illinois communities within a few weeks; most are already in operation. This compares with 35 offices at this time last year. "A key element in our plan to develop community-based services for troubled families and children is greater citizen involvement," Miller said. "To achieve the kind of community commitment we seek, the department's workers need to become more aware of needs and problems at the local level."

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

"We believe opening offices in storefronts, housing projects and other accessible locations is an indication that the state is truly serious about expanding services to people," he declared.

Miller said most of the new offices are located in Downstate communities but that a number of small offices also will be opening in Cook County within the next six months.

The 18 geographic areas are Aurora, Champaign, Decatur, East St. Louis, Joliet, Lake McHenry at Waukegan, Marion, Moline, Ottawa, Peoria, Quincy, Rockford, Salem, Springfield and four Chicago areas centered around Michigan Avenue, West Montrose Avenue, South Halsted

Street and South Damen Avenue.

The East St. Louis Area Office is at 310 N. 10th St. (telephone 874-2209).

Its three field offices are at East St. Louis, 917 Martin Luther King Drive (875-2400); Edwardsville, 116 Hillsboro Ave. (658-0800) and Sparta, 121 1/2 W. Broadway (443-4317).

Additional field offices within the East St. Louis Area are planned in Granite City, Belleville, Brooklyn and Alton, the latter replacing the Edwardsville office.

"Ultimately we hope to have staff located in more than 130 offices statewide to work with community and neighborhood groups in providing child protection, foster care, adoption, day care, homemaker service, counseling and other family support services," Miller explained.

Each service office will be staffed by up to six social workers plus clerical help, and will relate administratively to an area office headquarters.

Facilities open five days a week are called field offices. Those open less than five days a week are called satellites.

Price calls for independent consumer protection agency

On the House floor, Cong. Melvin Price of this district spoke in favor of legislation which would establish a Consumer Protection Agency as an independent agency within the executive branch.

The new agency would (1) represent the interests of consumers in the proceedings and activities of federal agencies; (2) receive, evaluate and respond to consumer complaints and transmit them to other federal agencies for action.

(3) Gather, evaluate and disseminate information beneficial to consumer products and services; and (4) advise Congress and the President on matters affecting the interests of consumers.

Rep. Price said the new agency would greatly enhance the ability of the government to recognize and deal effectively with consumer problems.

He said full protection of the consumer is of high priority in an age of mass production and corporate giantism.

Price has voiced strong opposition to a Department of Transportation proposal which fiscal year 1975 Military Commodity Control Administration would adversely affect railroad construction. Authorization bill service in Highland, contains $5,451,000 for a Scott Air Force Base, Belleville.

In a letter to Secretary of Defense, Claude B. Brown, the congressman said extension $3,000,000; a base the proposal "would seriously supply facility, $2,110,000; and undermine the economy of $34,000 for land development, bypassed areas."

The proposal provides for continuation of the Penn Central main line through Highland, but would discontinue stops at communities between Vandalia and St. Louis, including Highland, St. Jacob, Troy and Collinsville.

"This would effectively eliminate all rail service in these communities," said the congressman, "and produce a severe strain on the industries and farms which provide a large percentage of these citizens with their livelihoods."

Rep. Price requested that the department seriously consider the situation before any final decisions are made.

On Friday Rep. Price met with Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler concerning the city's pending claims with the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration.

The city has experienced problems with its drainage and sewer systems since last spring's floods resulted in high water tables. The federal claims are for necessary repairs and modifications.

Over $640,000 in claims has been approved, and the city is seeking reconsideration of an additional claim which was dis-

VISIT NURSING HOME
The Women's Missionary Society of Cedar View General Baptist Church met in the fellowship hall for a monthly gathering. The lesson was given by Mrs. Pat Dickerson on "God works through me because He lives in me."

Following the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Chris Williams and Mrs. Jewel Black to Mrs. Marie Shelton, Mrs. Loretta Pulley and Mrs. Dickerson.

The WMS group's monthly visit to the Anna Henry Nursing Home in Edwardsville included a devotion by Mrs. Dickerson on "He is risen."

Mrs. Joan Asbeck and her month-old daughter, Kerri, and two-year-old Angel attended along with Mrs. Black, Mrs. Doris Hart, Mrs. Gladys Crump, Mrs. Luden Stallings and Mrs. Betty Smith. A gift was given to each resident of the home.

Young people of Cedar View General Baptist Church held a work day, including preparing their church bus for its first pickup on Easter Sunday for members of the Sunday school. Lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Ron Moneymaker.

FIREFIGHTING PRACTICE during the weekend as Granite City firemen burned and extinguished the flames in a house at 2009 Lee Avenue at 20th Street, finally burning the house to the ground. The firemen had

'By thy rivers gently flowing, Illinois . . . .'

Illinois has enough bait to capture even the most avid river fan. Currently in the limelight is the Illinois River, which flows for 273 miles, winding quietly and steadily across the fertile plains of the Prairie State. Somewhere along its way is something for the weekend or week-long traveler.

Formed by the convergence of the Des Plaines and Kankakee Rivers 45 miles southwest of Chicago, the Illinois winds its way through such picturesque cities as LaSalle, Peru, Spring Valley, Sparland, Rome, Naples, Meredosia and Pearl on the way to the Mississippi River.

Along the way, there are numerous lakes, parks and historical sites. The "route of the voyageurs" begins in Joliet, which is situated on the Des Plaines River.

Moving southwestward, the Illinois River winds through Ottawa and the sister cities of LaSalle-Peru. They were established about 1830 and were once the head of steamboat navigation on the river.

A little farther downstream are Spring Valley and Hennepin. The former was a coal mining area until recently. The latter - named for Father Hennepin, who accompanied explorer LaSalle on his 1679 voyage - was at one time the terminus of a canal which connected the Illinois with the Mississippi at Rock Island.

Henry, Sparland, Lacon, Chillicothe and Rome, all once centers of steamboat activity, dot the coastline proceeding southward.

The largest city on this stretch of central Illinois farmland is Peoria, often considered the most beautiful city on the river because of the broad, deep lake there.

A few miles to the south is Pekin, home of the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and the late U. S. Supreme Court Justice David Davis.

Beyond Pekin lie the river valley towns of Liverpool, Havana and Beardstown. The latter is located near the junction of the Spoon River, setting of Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology." Downstream are Meredosia, site of the first railroad in Illinois, Naples, once a leading grain-shipping center, and the romantic cities of Florence, Montezuma, Bedford, Pearl, Kampsville, Hardin and Grafton.

In earlier days, the river was so pollution-free that when it reached the end of the line at Grafton, its clear waters did not immediately fuse with the muddy Mississippi and the two flowed side by side for a few miles.

Copies of the brochure, "Illinois River Road . . . Route of the Voyageurs," which details the entire Illinois River region, are available from the Department of Business and Economic Development, Division of Tourism, 222 S. College, Springfield 62760.

Attending the conference from this area were Debbie Winfield and Janet Morlen from Granite City High School North; Walt Winters and Jim Sharfa from Granite City South; Mae Cotton and Gloria Johnson from Venice; Peggy Stagner, Joe Young and John Gorka from Madison, and Marsha Singleton and Kerwin Lay from Brooklyn School.

Approximately 30 schools will send delegates to the May 8 meeting.

THEFT FROM STORAGE BIN

Items worth about $300 were stolen from a basement storage bin for the apartment of Helen Rehms, 2530 Parkview Drive, it was reported at 1:50 p.m. Monday. Taken were a radio, a can opener, carving set, baking pans, toaster, coffee pot, hair dryer and calculator.

ARSONIST SEEN

A man was seen starting a fire inside the garage of Christine Cox, 2280 Lee Ave., at 5:10 p.m. Monday. Witnesses said two men in a white car drove to the garage, one got out of the car and set the fire in the garage, returned to the car and then drove away. The fire was extinguished before it caused major damage.

State, private firms will share building

Things are buzzing at a construction site two blocks north of the Capitol Building in Springfield. The construction, when completed, will finally house all offices of the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction as well as those of the Division of Vocational and Technical Education.

It is a unique undertaking. "This situation represents the first time in Illinois that state government has worked with private industry in a construction project," explains Bill Becker of OSPI's office services. A Springfield construction company is erecting the building at OSPI specifications, and the OSPI will rent portions of it.

There are certain advantages to this type of agreement, according to Becker. For example, the actual property remains on the local tax rolls, and funds for the construction project did not have to be secured through the General Assembly.

The OSPI will rent space in the six-story building at $5.75 per square foot per year.

"The building will contain 220,000 square feet," Becker said, "and at this time it is anticipated the OSPI will occupy over half of it."

Present plans call for a bank, with a drive-in facility, to occupy the first floor of the new building. A restaurant will also be located within the building.

OSPI and DVE offices are now located in six separate locations in Springfield, and total 600 employees.

"The State Board of Education mandated that the OSPI and DVE become one," said the office services official. "That's why we have included them in our plans."

The idea for consolidation of the six offices under one roof came from State Supt. Michael J. Bakalis, according to Becker. In April 1972, the proposal documents went out.

"We received 86 requests for a copy of the document," Becker said, "with four firm bids from Illinois companies."

"This is the first time this arrangement has been done in Illinois," he continued, "but I have heard of it being done in other parts of the country."

The target occupation date is January 1975.

Howlett beginning to disagree with Walker

By KEN WATSON

Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

That closely-watched split in the Illinois Democratic party has again widened.

It took on a new and significant dimension as Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett for the first time publicly criticized Gov. Daniel Walker.

It came at a post-primary organizational meeting of the Democratic Cook County Central Committee with Cook Party Chairman Richard J. Daley, Chicago mayor, presiding.

Howlett, who in private conversations has been increasingly critical of Gov. Walker for months, used the Chicago occasion to attack him publicly and at the same time to reaffirm his long-held and close ties with the mayor.

Howlett told the assembled Cook Democrats that he has never found it necessary in order to win statewide election to "say one thing about Daley in Chicago and another Downstate."

Like Daley, Howlett has throughout his long career been a strong supporter of regular party organizations.

He holds the political professional's disdain for self-proclaimed independents, a role Walker has tried to assume.

At the same time, Howlett is in the governor's efforts to create a political organization of his own by backing various candidates in the Democratic March primary, most of whom were opposing Chicago candidates backed by Daley or by established party organizations Downstate.

Since the primary, Howlett and other organization Democrats have been more irritated than amused by public claims by Walker and his top political advisers that the governor was a winner in the primary.

Nearly regulars, and many party observers of Illinois politics, contend that Gov. Walker suffered far more defeats than victories and especially in the more publicized and controversial races.

Current speculation beneath the Statehouse Dome centers on why Howlett chose this particular time to make his public break with Walker. The two have observed an uneasy truce for months and it is said at the Capitol that Howlett is the only Democrat that Walker really fears.

The governor is believed to feel that time and events will make Daley easy to topple by the time Walker's present term expires, 1976.

However, it is known that Howlett has been doing a "slow burn" over the obvious slighting treatment which Walker and top aides have been administering to Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, a close associate of Howlett as well as a political protégé of Daley.

Howlett was especially incensed over a post-primary background briefing held for Chicago political writers by Walker lieutenants in which they ridiculed Hartigan as an easy person to beat in the 1975 Chicago mayoral primary should Daley decide not to run.

Although most Illinois

Democratic leaders believe Daley will go for a sixth successive term next year, they rate Hartigan as a likely choice as his successor should the mayor decide to step out.

But the prevailing view at Springfield sees Hartigan as a challenger to Walker in the 1976 Democratic primary for governor.

Howlett, long recognized as one of the shrewdest politicians in Illinois, never makes a major move without thinking it out before hand.

Some months ago, Howlett confided to associates that soundings had convinced him that Walker had already lost the support of many business and professional men in the state who supported him in 1972 because of his attacks on the state income tax.

Howlett reasons that when this segment of the voters deserts a politician, others eventually follow.

Reports reaching the Statehouse from throughout Illinois indicate accelerating decline in Walker's once high popularity.

Canny Mike Howlett, who had nothing but words of commendation for Republican President Nixon when Nixon was at the peak of his popularity in the 1972 campaign, may well have decided it's time to let the voters know how he feels about Daniel Walker.

Wheat survives cold

Most fields of wheat in Madison County will recover from the near-zero temperatures of three weeks ago with little or no damage, County Farm Advisor Warren W. Bundy said today.

"The amount of injury depends on stage of growth at time of the cold weather. Damage to wheat not yet jointed is confined to tips of leaves. These tips and some leaves will be lost but should not greatly harm the plant," Bundy said.

"An occasional early planted field may have losses. The extent of injury won't be completely evident until about two weeks following heading, or during the latter part of May. If injury did occur there will be misshapen heads and barren or partly barren heads.

"We had two factors to our advantage—a snow cover during some of the cold weather, and the fact that the temperature was gradually colder for several nights preceding the severe weather. Wheat in pre-joint stages will harden fairly rapidly. The ability to harden following jointing is reduced."

Sister Janet does prayer with style

"The Lord's Prayer" done word for word to a solid rock 'n' roll beat? Yep, and once you accept the idea you find that Sister Janet Mead and A&M Records have done it with style and class.

This is Sister Janet's first commercial effort even though in her homeland of Australia, she's been holding rock Masses which draw over 2,000 into the cathedral each week. She's dedicated her life to bringing God to the youth of the world through her music.

"I see Christ as a person with a vision of drawing all people together in happiness and I see my work as part of his vision to bring people to God through music," she explained.

Sister Janet was born in Adelaide 36 years ago where she attended St. Aloysius College and studied piano and violin. At the age of 16 she commenced studies there and soon joined the Convent. Her studies continued at the Conservatorium where she majored in piano performance.

While at St. Aloysius College she taught music and drama until she moved to M.L. Gambier and it was here she met a family who shared the same musical interest as herself. The Van Der Straan family and Sister Janet put together a group and for the last five years have worked very successfully in all fields of music from opera to rock.

Once again Sister Janet returned to St. Aloysius College, this time in charge of Classical Music, Liturgical Music, Choral Works, Drama and Pop Music. Soon Rock Opera became part of the musical scene along with performances that ranged from Gilbert and Sullivan to Liturgical Music.

Sister Janet's concern for the youth of Australia led her to the commencement of the Cathedral Youth Rock Masses in Adelaide last year, and surprisingly the Masses are attended by people of all ages and all nationalities, not just the youngsters digging on rock music. The Masses have not only put rock into the pure form of the Mass but have helped bring many people to the world of God.

At the moment, she is working in conjunction with the ABC in the production of a Rock Mass for television and when that is finished she will venture to Europe for a first-hand look at what is happening on the music scene in colleges and convents there.

Some may frown at "The Lord's Prayer" being treated this way but even if it sounds different the message is still the same.

The Droogs, a four-man rock band, are really raising some dust as they thunder through one of their hottest singles yet called "I'm Not Like Everybody Else," on the Plug 'N' Socket label. The band consists of Rich Albin handling the vocals, Bob Kasey on bass, Kyle Raven on drums and marimba and Roger Clay lead guitar. Clay also handles most of the writing chores for the group. Although the band is fairly young, they have already got it together in a fine fashion that is pleasing many as they hit the California rock circuit. Albin's gutsy vocals are paced well by Raven's steady beating of the skins. It's a group that will be heard from as they become lighter with each performance.

LUTHER'S BLUES - Picking his guitar, mouthing his harmonica or coming on heavy with those leather lungs, Luther Allison lets you know he's around. His sound is a deep, gut-bucket blue in the new Motown release, and that is about as deep as you're going to get. Besides

"Luther's Blues," Allison has two other of his own compositions on the LP. One minor squawk: Luther is so good on the harmonica that you wish he would play it more.

THE STOKOWSKI SOUND - Darned clever, these technicians. They can take a Stokowski recording of Dvorak's "New World" symphony, made in 1927, and line it up with a Stokowski recording of the same symphony, made in 1973, and there isn't a nuance of the difference you would expect. The 1927 recording is thinner in sound, but it still exhibits remarkable fullness. Either way, if you like Dvorak's "New World," you'll like the way Stokowski handles those haunting 19th Century American songs. RCA has this combination in a two-record set.

Seminar on year-round education

Which year-round school plan would be best suited to a particular community?

What effect would year-round school have on the lives of the students and teachers, and their families?

What changes would have to be made in the curriculum? These are a few of the dozens of questions facing a school district that is interested in keeping its facilities in use all year.

The questions, and the five basic models used for year-round school programs, will be discussed in detail at the Sixth National Seminar on Year-Round Education.

Scheduled for April 30 through May 3 at the Pick-Congress Hotel in Chicago, the seminar is sponsored by the Office of the Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction with the National Council on Year-Round Education and Valley View Community Unit District 365 in Romeoville. Congresswoman Edith Greene of Oregon will be keynote speaker for the conference. She will speak at a May 2 luncheon.

Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction Michael J. Bakalis will speak at a May 1 luncheon.

Wisconsin State Supt. Barbara Thompson will speak at the morning session May 1. Minnesota Commissioner of Education Howard B. Casney is scheduled to speak at the morning session May 2.

Year-round education will be discussed from many angles: educational and fiscal feasibility, dissemination of information, community survey, student scheduling, legislative needs, staff in-service training, and implementation.

The sessions will be given by school administrators and educators who have worked with year-round school plans. The five basic models for year-round schools also will be discussed in some detail.

These are 45-15 plan, under which each student attends school for 45 days and is on vacation for 15 days, on a staggered schedule; the trimester, four-quarter, and trimester programs, which divide the school year into three, four and five parts, respectively, with staggered vacation periods; and the "Concepts" plan, which divides the year into six 43-day terms with each student attending four terms.

Panels chaired by members of the National Council on Year-Round Education will debate the "pros and cons of year-round school in our society" on May 3.

Educators and other interested persons all over the country have been invited to attend.

Registrations are being accepted, and may be addressed to Jack K. Robertson, Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, 316 S. 2nd St., Springfield, Ill., 62706. A $60 fee is charged for the seminar, which includes 15 notebooks on the five year-round school plans and ten major topics of discussion, and the two luncheons.

Curb on state office equipment purchases

A program for controlling purchases of office equipment and furniture in the Illinois Secretary of State office was announced Wednesday by Secretary Michael J. Howlett.

"We will put an end to bureaucratic prestige, status or other whims that lead to the purchase of expensive furniture and other equipment," Howlett said.

The new policy will establish guidelines in ordering and replacing office equipment and furniture. It will provide a basis for justifying equipment acquisition requests and establish minimum time usage replacement standards.

Effective April 15, one agency in the Secretary of State office will have full authority over equipment requirements.

"This new policy will eliminate considerable waste in equipment costs," Howlett said. "We expect to make better use of our surplus equipment by transferring usable equipment where it is needed instead of automatically ordering new replacements."

Howlett pointed out that because of reductions in personnel or changes in operations, many equipment items in good condition are no longer needed and could be used as replacements in other departments and divisions.

"New purchases will undergo careful scrutiny. For example, many of our file cabinets have been ordered with locks which cost $10.30 extra," Howlett added.

"In the future, locks will be ordered only when security is required. We have found that most locks aren't necessary and seldom used."

The complete inventory and time usage standards — in addition to avoiding unnecessary purchases of new equipment — also will be used to eliminate use of obsolete, worn-out items which could reduce work output.

In compliance with the school code of Illinois 27-8, no child will be permitted to enter kindergarten until proof of physical examination and immunization is established.

All children upon being admitted into kindergarten, or prior to admission at any public, private or parochial school in the Illinois school system, or upon first entrance into the Illinois system by way of transfer from another system shall present evidence of immunity against diphtheria, poliomyelitis, tetanus, measles, rubella and whooping cough.

Future Secretaries take St. Louis business tour

The annual field trip of the Granite City High School Future Secretaries Association was attended by more than 30 members of the local chapter, and faculty advisor Miss Lucille Aramowicz.

National Secretary Association members participating were Chapter President Sally Gracey, Joyce Savich, Mary Gain, and FSA Chairman Charlene Vunovic. The girls were met in St. Louis by newsman Max Roby, who personally conducted them on a tour of the studios and explained the behind-the-scenes work involved in a one-hour news broadcast.

Following the television tour, the members walked to the offices of First Union, Inc., where they were met by Charles R. Bowman, senior vice-president of the bank holding company, who conducted them through the corporate offices so they could get an idea of what the working world is like.

Bowman, the boss of Mrs. Vunovic, spoke to the members about how to achieve the goal of being a good secretary, and related what he, as a boss, looked for most in a secretary. He noted that a good secretary should be able to take over more of her boss' less important detail work each day to leave him time to devote to more important jobs.

The business meeting of the chapter was conducted in the on the way home and included a new vote for Business Teacher of the Year for GCHS-South, which was necessary due to a tie. The senior girls were reminded that Tuesday, April 23, will be spent in local area offices.

Participating businesses will include St. Elizabeth Hospital, Sidener Supply Co., Metal Services, Ralston Purina, SIUE, Edison Bros. Stores, Retired Senior Volunteers Program, and First Union. Sixteen seniors will participate in the event.

The next meeting will be a joint session with the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association, at Charlie's Restaurant on Thursday, May 2. At the time, the $50 scholarship award, will be presented to the senior girl who has accumulated the most points and earned the title of Miss FSA.

Last year's winner was Miss Diane Daugherty. Also part of the program will be a skit by four FSA members. Guests of the FSA Chapter

Albert Lewis Roca 'Citizen'

Albert Lewis, social studies and civics instructor at Granite City High School South, has been elected Roca Citizen of the month for March, and was presented the award by Roca Member Jim Scharia in ceremonies held this month.

The honoree has two sons, Albert Jr. and Mike who were both members of Roca, and two daughters, Mary who was chosen as the first Roca Sweetheart in 1963, and Susan, an eighth-grade student at Prather Junior High School.

Lewis was born in Springfield, Ill., and because of his interest in sports he became a coach at Indiana State University. He coached two football teams to state championships at Niles, Mich., and taught baseball and basketball there.

He taught at Springfield and Princeton, Ill. before coming to Granite City where he has maintained an extensive interest in students and student problems. He has taught 32 years.

During the summer he operates a boys' camp at Eagle River, Wis.

Malignant neglect of those in need—Bond

There are as many honest politicians as there are honest college students, Julian Bond, a member of the Georgia legislature, said in a speech Monday on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus.

President Nixon has given politicians a bad name, Bond said.

"Some people tell little white lies once in a while, but the President is unable to tell the truth," Bond asserted.

The speaker cited two different groups of people who, he said, came together for the 1972 Presidential election. "The election was the coming together of the callous and the smug against the needy and the poor," Bond said.

Human problems in the last five years have been put on a balance sheet, he said, and now these problems have to be held accountable as to their worthiness.

"In the past five years the federal government has changed from benign concern to malignant neglect," Bond contended.

On a more optimistic note, Bond said the number of black officials in the South has increased 2,000 per cent since 1965. He said there are now 1,307 black public officials in Southern states.

Bond ended his speech by quoting black leader Frederick Douglass, who said over 100 years ago: "If there is no struggle, there is no progress... if there is no struggle it is like rain without thunder and lightning."

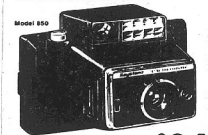

Bond's visit to SIUE was sponsored by the Black Students' Association and is the second in a series entitled "Gettin' Acquainted '74."

Women's rights still an issue in Illinois

BY RAY SERATI
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

The spring session of the General Assembly has for all practical purposes officially opened and it might mean a renewed battle for the resolution calling for ratification of the women's equal rights amendment (ERA) to U.S. Constitution.

Last year the General Assembly did not approve the resolution. It got to the House floor, where it was turned down. In the Senate, it was killed in a committee, never even making it to the floor.

Since last year, the supporters of the ERA resolution—Rep. Giddy Dyer, R-Hinsdale, and Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, and Sen.

Esther Saperstein, D-Chicago—have been busy trying to line up support for the proposal. Whether or not there is enough support this time is uncertain.

Meanwhile, an organization calling itself Men for ERA has been formed. The group has been trying to gather labor, business, professional and political men to support the ERA proposal.

House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, has said he does not know whether ERA supporters will seek passage of the resolution in the spring session.

There have been some attempts to limit the spring session to only fiscal matters facing the state.

Apparently still pending is a suit in Chicago's federal district court.

The suit was filed last spring by proponents on the number of votes required in the General Assembly to ratify the amendment. The suit challenges the State Constitution and a rule of the Illinois House requiring a three-fifths majority for ratification of amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

When the ERA resolution was defeated in the House it was by a 95-72 favorable vote. That was six votes more than needed for a constitutional majority.

However, Blair ruled that the State's 1970 charter and a House rule required 107 votes for passage of amendments to the Federal Constitution. Blair made such a ruling even though he voted for the resolution.

If the federal district court rules in favor of the constitutional majority vote, it would add some impetus for ERA supporters in the Assembly.

The ERA was approved by Congress in 1972. It was then sent to the states for ratification, and must be approved by 38 state legislatures to go into effect, with only several more ratifications currently needed.

St. John Lutheran Easter events

Members of St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues, will join in a special Good Friday noonday service, sponsored by The Lutheran Bureau, at Concordia Lutheran Church, the Rev. Samuel Boda, pastor, announced today.

At 7 o'clock this evening, the St. John congregation will take part in Holy Communion services at the church when members of the spring confirmation class will participate for the first time.

"Enebrae" services are planned at 7 p.m. Good Friday. The meditations will be based on the "Seven last statements of Jesus spoken on the cross," the Rev. Boda said.

Seven candles will be used to represent the last words and a candle will be extinguished each time a meditation concerning the words is completed, the minister said.

Easter Sunday worshippers will gather at Wilson Park skating pavilion for the traditional sunrise services sponsored by the Lutheran Bureau, starting at 7 a.m. The brass ensemble will consist of St. John Lutheran members.

A festive celebration is scheduled at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the church. Trumpeter will be John T. Severino Sr., with Miss Ellen Boda at the organ. Children attending Sunday school at 9:15 a.m. will receive a small gold cross.

On Saturday, youth groups at the church will sponsor an Easter egg hunt for Sunday school participants between the ages of 3 and 10. The hunt will start at 1 p.m. In the event of rain, the eggs will be distributed in the church fellowship hall, the Rev. Boda said.

Parents affect child's choice of occupations

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
County Home Economics Adviser

Few parents seem to recognize the effect they have on their children's job choices. No other group even comes close to influencing choices as much as parents do.

Parents furnish work-role models with which their children can identify.

Some parents may make definite plans and press the child into a particular occupation. Others may have an idea about a good education and job, leaving the specifics up to the child.

Parents with no plans tend to limit choices and lower the level of occupational aspiration.

Youth look to parents for advice, and then they attempt to meet the parents' expectations in educational planning and academic and occupational achievement.

The old maxim: "To enlarge what a man can do, you must first enlarge what he thinks he can do," seems to be proven by research.

When a person underestimates his academic ability, he doesn't strive for advanced training and thus limits his vocational potential.

Parents motivate their children's interest and achievement. As a child succeeds at something, he is encouraged to try again. Each step toward a goal is a building block for later use.

Parents can motivate children to prepare for a particular job or continue their education. A child needs to know that it is possible for him to achieve his desire.

Child-rearing practices are related to vocational choices, too. Parents who share activities, ideas and confidences—who are approving, affectionate, interested and encourage achievement—have children who are less restrictive and severe, provide a climate for better choice-making.

But parents also need to have more information about careers. Most of what they know comes from their own experience and the experiences of friends.

Faith Parrish becomes bride of Mace Rodgers

Miss Faith Parrish, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Parrish, Rural Route Five, Perryville, Mo., became the bride of Mace Rodgers, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Rodgers, 2206 Elm Ave., April 6 at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, 2501 Buenger Blvd.

The Rev. Kullman Lackey, pastor of Mitchell Assembly of God Church, heard the couple repeat their vows at 6:30 p.m. as they stood within a white arch festooned with amilax.

Arrangements of roses, gladiolus, daisy pom poms and baby breath in the wedding colors of yellow, lilac, blue and pink adorned the church for the double ring ceremony.

Miss Lynda Kelley sang "The Lord's Prayer, 'Because'" and "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Jewel Everett.

Miss Cindy Rodgers, a sister of the groom, dressed in a mint green Empire style gown, and Rick Parrish, the bride's brother, served as candle-lighters.

The bride, who resides at 1732 Pontoon Road, was given in marriage by her employer, Dr. Thomas Martin. She chose a full length bridal gown of angel organza designed in an Empire style.

Alencon lace, beaded with seed pearls, traced the long bishop sleeves and was repeated on the sheer yoke and high neckline.

An acordan pleated flounce encircled the hem of the straight skirt and formed the chapel length train.

She wore a mantilla veil of bridal illusion edged with a wide band of Chantilly lace and she held a cascade bouquet of white carnations and tallman roses centered with baby breath in rainbow colors and accented with long satin streamers.

All the attendants selected dresses made with floral chiffon over taffeta bodices featuring a high rise waistline and long sleeves cuffed with a self fabric ruffle. Their slightly gathered skirts were in a solid color chiffon.

Miss Sherry Kent, maid of honor, was attired in yellow. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Faith Parrish, the bride's sister-in-law, was in lilac, Mrs. Katie Newborn in blue and Miss Jane Newman chose pink.

They held crescent bouquets of multi-colored daisies in shades to match their gowns. Each wore a spun straw hat in a matching color.

Tammie Parrish and Shabbir Safdar appeared as a miniature bride and groom. The latter also served as ringbearer with Pamela Parrish, a niece of the bride, as flower girl.

She wore a long white gown applique with pink and yellow flowers and made with short puff sleeves, and an Empire waist. Delicate white lace edged the neckline and a pink satin sash was tied at the back with a wide bow and long streamers.

Various colored petals filled the white wicker basket she carried.

David Newborn served as best man, Jim Hagnauer, Keith and Frank Rodgers, brothers of the groom, John Bennett and Rick Parrish, a brother of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Parrish, mother of the bride, was attired in a blue floor length dress with long sleeves complemented with blue and white accessories. She wore a blue carnation corsage.

The groom's mother, Mrs.

MR. AND MRS. MACE RODGERS, who were united in marriage at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, she is the former Miss Faith Parrish of Granite City, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Parrish of Perryville, Mo. (Ollis Photography)

Rodgers, selected an A-line formal length dress in a rose polyester designed with a round neckline and short sleeves. Her accessories were in matching shade and her corsage was made up of white carnations with an apricot bow.

Miss Cindy Rodgers registered the guests at a reception given in the church hall. The rehearsal dinner was served at the Grand Cafe.

After a wedding trip to Tan-Tar-A Resort in the Oarks, the newly married couple will reside in Granite City.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. The former Miss Parrish is employed in the medical office of Drs. S. H. Safdar and T. F. Martin.

Mr. Rodgers served four years with the U.S. Navy Seabees and presently is employed at Granite City Steel.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Parrish, Perryville, Mo.; Rick Parrish and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Joiner of Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Newman and Miss Jane Newman of Union, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rodgers, Flint, Mich.; Mrs. Gladys Rodgers, Lakeview, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rodgers, Salem, Mo.; and Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Mayes, Clinton, Ia.

Miss Jane Ellen Kerch, Paul Jackstadt are wed

The First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, was the scene of the evening wedding on April 6 of Miss Jane Ellen Kerch, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Kerch, 2910 State St., and Paul Michael Jackstadt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Jackstadt, 314 Vandalia St., Collinsville.

Burning tapers in aisle candelabra illuminated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock performed by the Rev. David Maxton and the Rev. Michael Kuse.

Altar bouquets were arrangements of vari-colored early spring flowers. Mrs. Isabel Schmidt presided at the organ as Miss Debbie Hightower sang "Sunrise, Sunset," The Lord's Prayer and "Love Theme."

Preceding the bride down the white carpeted aisle was Miss Judy Kerch of Chicago, a sister of the bride, the maid of honor, and Mary Vana of Sublette, Ill., Robyn Robertson of Granite City and Sara Majors of Champaign, bridesmaids. They chose floral print voile jacket dresses in shades of pink, blue, apricot and maize. The sleeveless frocks were designed with fitted bodices and jewel necklines, edged in white veil lace. Lace was repeated on a wide flounce at the skirt hem. Pophum jackets tied with a self belt completed their attire. Each girl held a nosegay of mums in a shade to match her gown, trailing long streamers. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of white silk organza featuring a jewel neckline and short sleeves. Tiny rows of re-embroidered Alencon and Venise lace enhanced the front of the gown and a-line skirt. Matching lace created a decorative trim on the chapel length train. She carried a cascade of white baby roses and her elbow length veil was secured with a headpiece of appliqued flowers etched in pearls.

The groom chose his brother, Steve Jackstadt, as best man. Stan Backewski, Steve Helmkamp and Don Cox served as groomsmen. Seating the guests were Greg Patton and Bob Hollingshead. Both mothers were attired in long gowns. Mrs. Kerch chose a blue dress and the groom's mother, Mrs. Jackstadt, selected peach colored frock. They wore gardenia corsages. Guests were received by the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Jackstadt at a reception given at Lewis and Clark Restaurant, East Alton.

The bride is a graduate of Quincy College, Quincy, Ill. and teaches at CBS High School, Clayton, Mo. Mr. Jackstadt was graduated from Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, and now teaches at Parkview School, Granite City.

IN ORBIT—Taking off on a simulated trip to the moon is an egg packaged by Sister Richard Maureen Stratmann, principal of St. Stephen's School at Caseyville. The "launching pad" is the roof of the Peck classroom building on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The exercise in egg dropping was part of an elementary science education class experiment. Waiting turns to hurl their packages are Geri Sullivan, a teacher at Columbia; Shirley Davis, East St. Louis; Terri Tognarelli, Collinsville; David Franke, Batchtown; Melodee Cameron, Collinsville; Pat Whelan, Granite City; and Kathy Wimmer, Belleville. Watching is Hubert Hayes, an SIUE safety officer.

Egg Drops Simulate Moon Trip

The challenge of making a "soft" landing on the moon has been experienced by students majoring in elementary science education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Students of Instructor Robert Williams of the SIUE School of Education were told that the impact of landing on the moon is the equivalent of dropping an egg a distance of approximately 50 feet. They decided the best way to test the hypothesis would be to toss some eggs from the top of the three-story Peck classroom building, on the SIUE campus.

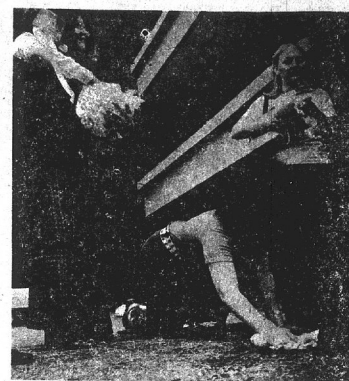

Each student was challenged to package one egg in a way that it would not break when dropped from the top of the building. The containers were restricted to a maximum size of 12 inches on a side.

The result: 18 of 28 eggs made it, in an assortment of packages and devices ranging from boxes and cans to parachutes. Interior packing materials included gelatin, popcorn, liquids, paper, peanut butter, cardboard and air foam plastics.

The packages were dropped in a construction area, where "the mess would not be offensive" if the landings were unsuccessful. Williams said only a few spectators were splattered by broken eggs, and all the participants were impressed with the scientific ingenuity necessary to make a trip to the moon.

A SMALL PARACHUTE was devised by Pat Whelan of Granite City for an egg-dropping experiment in an elementary science education class at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Students were challenged to package an egg so it would not break when dropped from the top of a three-story building. According to Instructor Robert Williams, the drop simulates the impact of landing on the moon.

BROKEN EGGS were not unusual when students in an elementary science education class at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville simulated landings on the moon by dropping packages from the top of the Peck classroom building. Each package contained an egg. Della T. Schindler of Belleville is wiping up an egg which she dropped in a plastic bag filled with peanut butter. More successful were Kathy Soechting (left) of Granite City, who used a package of popcorn to protect an egg, and Joyce Flaxbeard (right) of Fairview Heights, whose "landing craft" was made of air foam plastic.

1st Presbyterian service tonight

The annual candlelight communion service will be observed at 7:30 p.m. today at the First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, the Rev. David Maxton, pastor, has announced.

Mrs. June Branding will sing a special solo and the Sanctuary Choir, under her direction, will present selections in keeping with the Easter season.

The Rev. Maxton will use "The Last Supper" as the meditation topic. Three services will be held at the church on Easter Sunday.

The first, 6:30 a.m. sunrise service, will be followed by breakfast at 7:30 a.m., served by the Navigators Club. The Rev. Maxton's message will be "Without a Doubt."

The Youth Choir will sing at both the sunrise service and second worship hour at 8:30 a.m., directed by Miss Debbie Hightower.

The sermon topic at the 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. services will be entitled "The Ground of Hope," The Rev. Maxton reported.

'Choose Life' is guild topic

Mrs. Esther Baumberger presented a program on the subject "Choose Life-Turn Darkness to Light" at a meeting of the Afternoon Guild at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

The speaker reviewed ways to affirm life or destroy it during her presentation.

The ways and means committee chairman announced the guild will host a silent auction at the May 2 meeting.

Also reported were plans for May Fellowship Day set May 3 at the Koinonia Center, 24th Street and Madison Avenue, sponsored by "The Quad-City Church Women United. A noon salad luncheon will precede the program. Tickets are available from Ertha Johnson or Ruth Kaburek, club officers said.

ENTRY FROM ROOF

Burglars who broke into the home of Mae Pirtle, 2121 Benton St., gained entry by climbing on a basement roof to enter a second-story window, it was reported Tuesday. An earlier report that a staircase ramp was pushed to the window was in error, the report said.

4 investigators named by state

Donald Page Moore, director of the newly created Office of Special Investigations, on Monday named four investigators to his staff.

The office was created by Gov. Dan Walker to investigate illegal and unethical practices by persons in the executive branch of state government. The office began operation April 1.

James I. Gottreich, Skokie, Alfred W. Lord, Springfield, and George M. Crane, Makanda, are the new investigators joining the office this week. Lee Aubrey Moore Jr., Chicago, will begin May 15.

Gottreich, 36, was previously director of youth services of the Cook County sheriff's office for two years. He will be paid $22,000 annually.

Lord, 40, was formerly a police officer with the Springfield Airport Authority and an investigator with the state's attorney's office in Herkimer County, N.Y. His salary will be $10,000 per year.

Crane, 40, has been a Southern Illinois University staff member since 1970 at the School of Law and the Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections. His pay will be $15,000.

Moore, 27, is a special projects consultant at the Peoria City Police Department where he is working on a plan to reduce specific crimes in the city. He was previously associate director of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. He will be paid $2,000.

The Office of Special Investigations has offices in Room 2010 at 160 N. LaSalle, Chicago, and in Room 703 at 1 W. Old State Capitol Plaza, Springfield.

A deputy director and a chief investigator for the office will be named in the near future.

New director of investment

The Illinois State Board of Investment announced this week that Richard A. LaPoint has been named director, effective May 1.

The board has responsibility for investment management of the assets of the State Employees Retirement System, the General Assembly Retirement System and the Judges Retirement System of Illinois. Total assets under management exceed $450 million.

Charles W. Woodford, chairman of the board, said LaPoint's appointment provides the board with expanded professional investment management capability.

He comes to the position from the Fidelity Union Trust Co., Newark, N.J., where he had been a senior investment officer. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College, obtained his master's degree from the Amos Tuck School and is a member of the Financial Analysts Federation.

Illinois tax climate

"Illinois' overall state tax climate still compares favorably with neighboring states," the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois says in announcing the release of its publication, "Illinois Tax Climate 1974."

In 1972, personal income in Illinois amounted to $57,829,000,000, and state taxes for fiscal 1973 totaled $3,676,000,000, or 6.36 per cent of personal income.

In Indiana, state taxes took 5.15 per cent of personal income; in Iowa, 6.88 per cent; Kentucky, 8.52 per cent; Michigan, 7.95 per cent; Missouri, 5.83 per cent; Ohio, 5.4 per cent; Tennessee, 6.79 per cent; and Wisconsin, 9.71 per cent.

The last state in the above comparison to impose an income tax was Ohio, and now Illinois and all its neighboring states rely on this tax as a major revenue producer.

For fiscal 1973, the corporate income tax in Illinois produced 6.23 per cent of total state taxes while the individual income tax produced 24.34 per cent of total state receipts.

In the neighboring states the comparable percentages are as follows: Indiana, corporate .86 per cent, individual 26.42 per cent; Iowa, corporate 5.53 per cent, individual 26.42 per cent; Kentucky, corporate 6.79 per cent, individual 17.56 per cent; Michigan, corporate 10.32 per cent, individual 26.23 per cent; Missouri, corporate 5.26 per cent, individual 26.39 per cent; Ohio, corporate 6.27 per cent, individual 15.00 per cent; Tennessee, corporate 7.28 per cent, individual 38.96 per cent.

Illinois and its neighbors rely heavily on state sales taxes to produce revenues for state services. In Illinois this tax at a 4 per cent rate produced 32.54 per cent of the revenues derived from state taxes in fiscal 1973.

The comparisons for neighboring states are: Indiana, state rate 4 per cent, percentage of total state taxes, 40.70 per cent; Iowa, state rate 3 per cent, percentage of total state taxes 28.54 per cent; Kentucky, state rate 5 per cent, percentage of total state taxes 31.04 per cent; Michigan, state rate 4 per cent, percentage of total 30.36 per cent; Missouri, rate 3 per cent, percentage of total 30.13 per cent; Ohio, rate graduated up 4 per cent, percentage of total 30.19 per cent; Tennessee, rate 3.5 per cent, percentage of total 40.01 per cent; and Wisconsin, rate 4 per cent, percentage of total 23.15 per cent.

Illinois as a state has not levied a property tax since the advent of the sales tax in 1963, but Illinois received $5,510,000 from the property tax levied by the state on the rolling stock of privately-owned car companies that had no situs basis for local assessment.

The equalized assessed valuation of rolling stock is subject to a statewide average rate.

Property tax revenues as such go to local governments. The property tax bill for local governments in Illinois was $3,062,717,687 in calendar year 1972.
